Thomas Anderson

Of unknown origin and ancestry . There is some supposition that he may have come from one of the lower counties of the Eastern Shore of Maryland .

His wife's name was Elizabeth . Among their children were:

3 daughters , not named
James (11) married Elizabeth
Bartholomew
John

In November 1730 he purchased of Thomas Berry of Kent County , Delaware , 150 acres called "Burberry's Lott" ( sometimes Burberry's Barr,"). He left this tract to his son James(11) with the stipulation he pay each of his two younger brothers L20 within two years after they became of age

His will was dated 1734 and probated 1738.

This data is from Anderson Folder in Turner Collection in Archives Commission , Hall of Records , Dover , Del It states no attempt , at that time , had been made to trace descendants of this line . I believe we have succeeded in this

One published date of William Macknatt and Mary Underwood's marriage is here ...

http://genealogytrails.com/del/kent/kentmarriages-M.html

William McNatt Mary Underwood 1 Jan 1758

NOTE: this of course means that Mary was his last wife if the date is correct, doesn't it? Because the date is too late for her to be the mother of Richard or most or all of Wm's children mentioned in his will, isn't it?

But, the date may be incorrect? It is suspiciously the exact same date used for her sister's marriage, and it is mid-winter, New Year's in fact, a bad time for a marriage. It could be a post-dated entry at the first of the year by the local scribe when they discovered that these two sisters were married when processing their father's will where their spouses and married surnames are mentioned?

At any rate, she may not be the mother of our Richard(i), or even of most of his siblings? Although most others claim that she is their mother, and Wm's _sole_ wife.

William died in 1775/6 per his will and probate dates.
Mary survived him.

First Generation

1. Jonathan[1] MCNATT, son of Richard MACNATT and Rebecca ANDERSON, was born in William Penn Colony, Kent Co, DE in 1750. Located on the shore of the Delaware River. Some records indicate John was born in 1740, but they are incorrect. Jonathan died in 1843 in Lincoln Co, TN, at 93 years of age. I don't have any other evidence for John McNATT's death - this date came from the Don CAMPBELL chronicle.

He married Sally BENSON about 1775 - 1785. It is uncertain whether John and Sally were married in TENNESSEE in the mid 1780s or earlier in PENNSYLVANIA or DELAWARE.

The McCornack Chronicle states:

"At the close of the Revolution, John McNATT, a single man, emigrated to the District of TENNESSEE. There he married a Miss BENSON, quaintly described as a little Dutch woman."

The Norman Chronicle states:

"In TENNESSEE he married at the age of forty, a little German Lady, Miss BENSON, who weighed only ninety pounds. To this union were born three sons and three daughters."

But census records indicate his three sons were born in DELAWARE and PENNSYLVANIA starting in 1776 through 1787. Other sources say his son, Leven Sr, was born on the family farm near Bedford, TN in 1787.

One unsubstantiated record states that the marriage took place in 1785 in TENNESSEE. This would have made Sally Benson his second wife (since Richard and Charles were born in 1776 and 1780) even though most records seem to indicate that Sally BENSON was the mother of all of John McNATT's children. This has, so far, been difficult to verify. Some possible theories:

1) Jonathan was married to someone else who bore Charles and Richard in Delaware - shortly after the Revolutionary war.

2) Jonathan and Sally had children out of wedlock and married later, in TENNESSEE. Or "Re-affirmed" their marriage in TENNESSEE.

3) The census records are incorrect and all children were born in TENNESSEE when Jonathan McNATT moved there after the Revolutionary War.

Sally was born in HOLLAND? about 1744. I believe she is the wife listed on the 1830 census for John McNATT in TN as being between 80-90 years old. The guess at the location [Holland] comes from the fact that she is described as 'a little Dutch woman' in the Goodspeed History but I would like to find an immigration record of some kind to pinpiont the town.

Sally died after 1830. Still living at 1830 census in Lincoln Co, TN.

He moved August, 1819 in Lincoln Co, TN. Jonathan McNATT paid $2 for land of Ephraim Burrow which began at Pleasant Garden Meeting House - Registered 20 JUL 1819.

I believe John moved to this land (located in what was then Lincoln County) near the end of 1819. It was east of what is now Lynchburg, TN and became known as 'McNatt Hollow.' His sons lived in this area as well as they are listed near one another on the 1820 Lincoln County census.

Lincoln County, TN was founded on January 1, 1810. It was formed with land from the southern part of Bedford County, TN. Sometime between 1810 - 1820, a small portion of Indian land was added to form the southeast corner of the county. In 1836, the northwest portion of Lincoln County was given to form part of Marshall County. In 1871, the northeast portion of Lincoln County was split off to form over one half of Moore County. This part of Moore County now contains the area from Lincoln Co, known as 'McNatt Hollow' [351947N 0862847W] near Lynchburg, TN.

He resided in Lincoln Co, TN in 1820, Household 1051. John McNatt is listed as a head of household [over 45 years old] in the 1820 census. His wife [Sally?] is listed as over 45. They had a male child [under 10 years old] and a female child [under 10 years old] living with them at the time. Since John and Sally would have been over 60 years old when these children were born, they may be grandchildren or godchildren whose parents were not around. Still trying to find out who these two children were. They were born between 1810 - 1819...

He resided in Lincoln Co, TN in 1830. John McNATT is listed as a male 80-90 years old on the 1830 census. There is also a female [Sally?] 80-90 years old; and an unknown male age 20-30.

Jonathan applied for a military pension in Bedford Co, TN, November 6, 1832. John and his son, Leven Sr. appeared in the Bedford County, TN court to apply for Revolutionary War pension benefits on this day. He stated his residence as Lincoln County, TN.

REVOLUTIONARY WAR SOLDIER [Pensioner# S.2809]

John enlisted as a Private about 27 JAN 1776 under the command of: Colonel John Haslets' (Heaslets?) Delaware Regiment known as the Delaware Blues. Captain Nathan Adams' Company Lt. _____ Gordon He served about 11 months.

Pensioner John McNATT [Age 85] appears on the 1835 TN Pension Roll:

Pension certificate #7677 was issued 11 MAY 1833 Annual allowance: $36.66 - commenced 4 MAR 1831 Amount received : $73.32 This amount, listed on 1835 pension roll, indicates he only received 2 annual payments. Need to find out if he died or just discontinued his pension.

Jonathan MCNATT and Sally BENSON had the following family:

- 2 i. Becky[2] MCNATT was born in TENNESSEE. not sure, though. She married Husband of Becky BEDWELL. There is a Major W. BEDWELL listed as a neighbor to Jonathan McNATT in the 1820 Lincoln County, TN census. He was between 18-25 years old. This may have been the unknown BEDWELL mentioned in the McCornack Chronicle. His spouse was between 16-25 years old. This may have been Becky McNATT but I need more evidence to verify. In any case, Becky was probably married in TENNESSEE.

- 3 ii. Betsy MCNATT was born in TENNESSEE. She married Unknown WOLF. There is a Peter WOLF listed as a neighbor to Jonathan McNATT in the 1820 Lincoln County, TN census. He was between 18-25 years old. This may have been the unknown Wolf mentioned in the McCornack Chronicle. His spouse was between 16-25 years old. This may have been Betsy McNATT but I need more evidence to verify. In any case, Betsy was probably married in TENNESSEE.

- + 4 iii. Richard MCNATT was born about 1776.

- + 5 iv. Charles C. MCNATT was born about 1780.

- + 6 v. Leven Benson MCNATT Sr. was born February 14, 1787.
- + 7 vi. Polly MCNATT was born before 1790.

RICHARD MacNAUGHTON, a Scotish Highlander Chief, and a "Covenanter", came to America in 1734/35 - shortened the name to "MacNatt" - and settled in Penns Colony on the Deleware River, having landed in Philadelphia, the capitol of William Penn's Colony of Pennsylvania. He soon bought a tract of land on the shores of the beautiful Delaware River, and here developed the farm that was to be the headquarters of the new race of his name in this new world.

NOTE: Some records show Highlander Chief, and some only say "Highlander" - however Muriel Cline Ellis has some slides showing the McNaughten Castle and Carol McNatt, who resides in McAllen, Texas has a friend there who had just returned from a trip to Scotland (May 1981) and had seen the McNaughton Castle; and that the Alexanders (her name) were of the same clan as McNatts. She also said that "Caperton" was a surname, therefore we assume that Caperton must have been the name of a mother somewhere along the line.

Reuben, the oldest son of Richard MacNatt - settled in Virginia.

*John, (son of Richard MacNatt ) - in a few instances shown as John William.

Born 1750, Kent County, Delaware
Died 1843, Bedford County, Tennessee
Married soon after the war to Sally Benson at Lincoln County, Tennessee, having first gone to South Carolina, then west to what then was a territory, but later the State of Tennessee in that part afterwards was known as Bedford County. He owned slaves, so was not a Quaker. There were 7 children, 3 sons and 4 daughters.

MACNAUGHTON

CLANSMEN'S CREST: A castle embattled, gules.

MOTTO: I hope in God.

GAELIC NAME: MacNeachdainn.

THE progenitor of this ancient clan is alleged to be Nachtan Mor who lived about the 10th century. The clan is supposed to be one of those transferred from the province of Moray to the crown lands in Strathtay by Malcolm IV. About a century later they possessed lands bordering on Loch Awe and Loch Fyne, and in 1267 Gilchrist MacNaughtan and his heirs were appointed by Alexander III keepers of the Castle of Fraoch Eilean in Loch Awe. The MacNaughtans also held the castles of Dubh-Loch in Glen Shira, and Dunderave on Loch Fyne.

Donald MacNaughtan opposed Bruce and lost most of his possessions, but in the reign of David II the fortunes of the MacNaughtans were somewhat restored by the grant of lands in Lewis. Alexander, chief of the clan, who was knighted by James IV, was killed at the Battle of Flodden in 1513. The MacNaughtans remained loyal to the Stuarts and after the Restoration, the chief, Alexander, was knighted by Charles II. He died in London, and his son John fought at Killiecrankie in 1698. The estates passed out of the family about 1691.

At a meeting of the clan held in 1878 it was resolved that Sir Francis E. MacNaughten of Dunderawe, Bushmills, Ireland, was the lineal descendant of the family of the chief through Shane Dubh, the grandson of Sir Alexander MacNaughtan who fell at Flodden, and who went to Ireland in 1580.

MACMILLAN (Map Ref. D 7). Believed to be of descent from Methlan, son of a 13th-century Buchanan chief, MacMillans became known about then around Loch Arkaig, with a branch by Loch Tay. From here in the 16th century their chief possession became Knapdale through marriage with a MacNeill heiress; and in Galloway also a branch developed who were later to achieve note as Covenanters.

At first dependent on the Lords of the Isles, the MacMillans afterwards lost their clan lands to bigger neighbours, the Lochaber group becoming fighting followers of the Camerons, whilst some from Knapdale avoided Campbell 'protection' by migrating to Arran. The Baxter sept claim descent from a Chief's son who once eluded pursuit by assuming the guise of a busy baker.

MACNAB (Map Ref. F 6). The MacNabs are of ancient origin in Breadalbane, and claim to be descended of Clan Alpin, also from a family of hereditary abbots of St Fillan's monastery once in Glendochart, hence Mac an Aba, son of the abbot. The old Celtic church did not stipulate celibacy. The Dewar sept long held custody of the beautiful Celtic 'Crozier of St Fillan' now in the National Museum of Antiquities, Edinburgh.

From their once extensive clan lands there remains only the MacNab burial-island at Killin. The reduction arose through supporting MacDougalls against the unforgetting Bruce; and again for following Montrose, when their royalist Chief was taken prisoner and escaped only to fall at Worcester 1651 with many other Highlanders. A later kenspeckle Chief was the subject of Raeburn's jaunty portrait 'The MacNab.'

MACNAUGHTON (Map Ref. E 6). With the ancient name Nechtan, borne by four Pictish kings, the MacNaughtons claim as progenitor a chief of one of the powerful Moray tribes transplanted by Malcolm IV. This Nachtan Mor and his clan he settled in Strathtay and Strathspey, but within a century we find them migrating again to greater power in Argyllshire, with charters to their chief seat at Dunderawe on Loch Fyne and another stronghold Fraoch Eilean in Loch Awe. Other fortresses of Dun Nachtan in Lewis and Strathspey recall their wide-ranged influence. This became severely reduced from the clan's joining the various Stewart risings.

MACNEIL (Map Refs. A 4, A 5, D 7). Niall, Nigel or Neil the clan's founder in Bruce's reign had lands in Knapdale and Kintyre, and was probably of Clan Donald stock. MacNeills in Galloway at least as early as Bruce may be of the ancient Irish O Neills. The MacNeil clan at first followed the Lords of the Isles, then after 1493 the two separated branches of Barra and Gigha took opposite sides with the MacLeans and Islay MacDonalds respectively. Neil's great-grandson was in 1427 granted Barra, the Hebridean isle with its forbidding islet-castle Kisimul, and South Uist. Torquil MacNeill about the same time founded the branch-clan of Gigha, also of Taynish and Colonsay.

The clan's maritime tradition appears in 'The Highland Fair, Mitchell's ballad-opera of 1731, when the Bardess omits Noah from one long genealogy: "The MacNeil had a boat of his own!" And one of the clan was chief designer of the Cunarders Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth.

MACPHERSON (Map Ref. G 4). The name means 'son of the Parson': one Murriach or Murdoch who in 1153 succeeded to the Chiefship of Clan Chattan (see thereunder) and obtained special dispensation to marry. His third son evinced a skill that established one source of the numerous Smith families. Previously of Lochaber, the MacPhersons were settled in Badenoch by Robert Bruce on land they had wrested from his Comyn rivals. A great quarrel with the Davidsons was settled by winning that 1396 combat of the North Inch of Perth, with the help of Hal Gow o' the Wynd—also doubtless by playing the clan's Fairy Chanter.

After Culloden, Cluny MacPherson shared his Benalder 'Cage' for weeks with Prince Charlie and remained himself in hiding for nine years. Despite large rewards offered, the loyal clansmen betrayed neither. James MacPherson (1738-96), with his version of Ossian's epic that first directed world attention to Celtic legends, instigated a new era of 'Romantic' taste.

MACNAUGHTON

ORIGIN OF NAME : Gaelic MacNeachdainn (son of Nechtan, pure one).
BADGE : Trailing azalea.
WAR CRY : Fraoch Eilean (Heathery Island).

MACNAGHTEN

Slogan :—" Frechelen " (Inis Frech in Loch Awe).

Badge :—Lus Albanach (Trailing Azalea).

THE earliest authentic reference to the Clan MacNaghten connects them with Strathtay and with Argyll. The name Nectan is Pictish, and in the 12th century the Clan MacNaghten were proprietors of Strathtay, and were styled Tòiseachs or Thanes of Lochtay. In the 13th century we find them possessing land in Argyll. These possessions extended over the upper part of Lochawe, Glenara, Glenshira, and Loch Fyne. Their strongholds were Frechelen Castle in Loch Awe, Castle " Dubh-Loch " in Glenshira, and the picturesque Castle of Dundarave on Loch Fyne, the " Castle of the Two Oars." (The spelling of the name MacNaghten is governed by that recorded for the hereditary representer—the chief.)

Alexander III. in 1267 granted to Gillichrist MacNachdan the keeping of his castle of Frechelen on an island in Loch Awe, so that he should cause it to be built and repaired at the king's expense, as often as needful, and keep it safely for the king's necessity ; and that as often as he should come to it, the castle, well furnished, should be delivered to him to lodge and dwell there at his pleasure.

A " baronne Maknauchtane " (probably grandson of Gilchrist) fought against Bruce in 1308 at Dalree.

John, 16th Laird of MacNaghten, fought under Dundee at Killiecrankie and his estates were forfeited in 1690. His son, John MacNaghten of that Ilk and Dunderave, was the last of the direct line. He is said to have married about 1700 a daughter of Sir James Campbell, last of Ardkinglas in the direct male line. Ardkinglas, Laban-like, deceived MacNaghten, who took too much pre-nuptial refreshment, and found himself married to the eldest daughter instead of the second. The following day MacNaghten and the second daughter fled to Ireland, leaving his wife lamenting. Ardkinglas got him " condemned " for incest, and got " gift of his forfeited property." The chiefship became dormant and the succession indeterminate. According to the genealogy adduced in Lyon Court, John Dhu MacNaghten, brother to the Laird of Dundarave, settled in Antrim about 1580 and from him is presumed the present line of chiefs. In 1818 Edmund A. MacNaghten of Bushmills, W. Antrim, in these circumstances, and on the attestation of 400 MacNaghtens, was, on petition to Lyon Court, confirmed judicially in the chief arms of MacNaghten by decree of 13th Jan. 1818. Dying without issue, his brother and heir, Sir Francis MacNaghten of Dunderave, created Baronet 1836, succeeded. Sir Antony MacNaghten of Dunderave, Bushmills, Antrim, 10th Baronet, is the present chief.

full sight of the army. In 1314, as a thank offering for the victory of Bannockburn, King Robert erected a church at Tyndrum in Strathfillan, and dedicated it to St. Fillan. After the Reformation the crozier was faithfully guarded by its hereditary custodians, the Dewars, and was passed on from father to son. At the beginning of the nineteenth century the sept was broken up and left the country. Some of them emigrated to America, among them the custodian of the cuigreach, and so the relic was lost sight of for a time. Some years ago, however, Sir Daniel Wilson, while hunting on the shores of Lake Superior, took refuge in the hut of a Scottish settler named Alexander Dewar. Sir Daniel found that the settler's family had once lived in Inch Buie, that he was the custodian of St. Fillan's crozier, and that he had the relic in the house. It was then exhibited to Sir Daniel, and in 1876 was acquired by the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland, in whose museum at Edinburgh it has now found a resting-place. The hereditary keeper of the cuigreach of St. Fillan duly received, in 1930, armorial insignia indicative of his ancient office (Lyon Register, XXVIII., p. 128), although he no longer holds St. Fillan's crozier. The inquest of 1428 shows that the Deoir-Cuigreach was the Co-arb (and, as it explains, heir) of St. Fillan, i.e. in the Celtic sense, Hereditary Abbot. He and the Baron of the Bachuil (of St. Moluag of Lismore) seem to be the only surviving prelates of the old Celtic Church.

(3) Gilfillan, "servant of St. Fillan." See D. Mitchell's History of the Highlands:

> The Macnabs should probably be recognised as the lay abbots of Glendochart. In their genealogy we find the name Gillefhaolain or the servant of St. Fillan, a fact which shows their association with the monastery of St. Fillan. In the time of William the Lyon the Abbot of Glendochart was an important individual, and ranked with the neighbouring Earls of Atholl and Menteath.

(He was, of course, not a "lay" abbot, but a hereditary tribal abbot.)

Maclellan, derived from the same source as Gilfillan, is a clan rather than a sept name. A colony of Maclellans is to be found in Morar, Inverness-shire. There are also some MacLellans to be found in the Aberfeldy district of Perthshire. The Clelands of Cleland, who were hereditary foresters to the Earls of Douglas, likewise derive their name from St. Fillan.

CLAN MACNAUGHTEN SEPTS

(1) MacKendrick, MacHendry, Henry, etc.—Descendants of one Henry MacNaughton.

(2) MacBrayne, "Son of the Brehon" (or judge). So probably the MacBraynes held the position of hereditary judges of Clan MacNaughton.

(3) MacNair, MacNayer, MacNuir, MacNuyer, Weir.—The first four of these names are mentioned by old writers as septs of the MacNaughtons. MacNairs of Cowal anglicise their name "Weir."

(4) MacNiven, Niven.—MacBain gives as the English equivalent of Macniven, "Holy-man's slave" (Mac-Gille-Naoimh).

The Macnivens used to be located about Loch Awe side, and there is an island on Loch More (Craignish) named Macniven Island. Macnivens appeared to have remained in the province of Moray after their chiefs, the MacNaughtons, had removed further south, and to have occupied the old MacNaughton castle of Dunnachtan, in Strathspey.

(5) MacEol and also (6) MacKnight are referred to by several clan authorities as MacNaughton septs.

(7) MacVicar, "Son of the Vicar," is a name found on Loch Fyne. It was formerly a MacNaughton sept name, as the territory of the Clan MacNaughton extended from Loch Fyne to Loch Awe. After the dispersion of the MacNaughtons the MacVicars appear to have followed the Campbells of Argyll. A standing stone on the lawn of the castle of Inveraray was said to mark the old march between MacVicars and MacIvers. See Clan Campbell.

CLAN MACNEIL SEPTS

Neal, Neil, and Neill are all abbreviations of MacNeil. MacNeilage, MacNeiledge, and MacNelly are forms of the name to be met with in the Lowlands. In Fairbairn's Crests of Great Britain and Ireland those of MacNeil and MacNelly are bracketed together as identical. The MacGougans also have the same arms as the MacNeils. (See under MacDougall Septs).

CLAN MACPHERSON SEPTS

(1) Clark, Mac-a'-Chleric, etc.—Vide remarks under Clan Cameron Septs.

(2) Clarkson.

(3) Currie, MacCurrach, MacMurdoch, MacVurrich, etc., are all forms of the name MacMuirich, from Muiriach or Murdoch, the progenitor of the Clan Macpherson (vide remarks under the heading of Clan Macpherson, Chap. VII.).

(4) Gow, MacGowan.—Gow in Gaelic signifies Smith. The Gows of Clan Chattan are said to be descendants of Henry of the Wynd, the bandy-legged smith of Perth, who fought on the side of the Macphersons at the celebrated battle of the North Inch of Perth. This branch of the Clan Chattan has long been known as Sliochd a' Ghobha Chrom (the race of the bandy-legged smith). It is possible that a number of families rejoicing in the well-known name of Smith may be descendants of Henry Gow.

Revolutionary Claim, Act June 7, 1832.

Recorded by [illegible] Clerk

Book Y. Vol. 7 Page 88

State of Pennsylvania }
Bedford County Court of pleas & quarter sessions
November term 1837

On this day 6th of November 1837 personally appeared in open court before Samuel Philips, John Lefever & John Bowman Gentlemen Justices of the peace now presiding in said court John McPeak a resident of Lincoln County in the state of aforesaid aged sixteen eighty & upwards years who being first sworn according to law doth on his oath make the following declaration in order to obtain the benefit of the act of Congress passed June 7th 1832: That he was born in Kent County in the State of Delaware about the year 1750 according to the best recollection he has after information of his parents, that that he has no written record of his age. That he entered the service of the United States under the following named officers & served as hereafter stated

That he enlisted as a regular soldier in the United States army in the revolutionary war for twelve months in Kent County in the state of Delaware under Capt Nathan Adams a regular officer, his Lieutenant's name was Gardner that the company in which he was enrolled as a regular soldier was attached to Col. Hazelets Regiment of regulars which Regiment was called the Delaware Blues; after being mustered into service he was marched to a town called Dover in said State of Delaware at, which place they joined Col. Hazelets Regt from thence he was marched to Lewis Town in the County in said State down to the light house in Delaware bay; from the light house they marched to Fort Lewis Town where we were detained to march against a detachment of Tories who had embodied themselves under a wealthy man the command of a wealthy man whose name he has now forgotten, this Town at which the Tories were embodied was about 30 miles south east direction from Lewis Town, this man having considerable wealth & some influence & being a decided friend to the British the Tories & disaffected people of that district of country took protection under him both for defensive & offensive operations, the American officers learning where

Those forces were embodied and afoot march, which the detachment of American troops to which the applicant belonged met the farm when said Farms were embodied with a hope of defeating the enemy & taking a considerable number of prisoners, they marched in such order & disposition as empowered to surround the Mansion house & all other houses and buildings but to their great mortification & disappointment the enemy had retired from the house and selected an advantageous position, a field not immediately in view of the house where their line was formed apparently with a design to give battle, but on discovering our troops were preparing for an attack their whole line gave way and in great disorder broke to the woods & they were enabled to escape with not much injury, our disposition being too great a distance for our fire to take effect & having the advantage of our troops in a knowledge of the woods & swamps they were enabled to escape without much injury on the expedition we took one prisoner: after burning the Farms & reconnoitering that part of the County we then marched back to Lewistown. This deponent states he was out on many small expeditions and scouting parties in the State of Delaware principally against the tories, sometimes to disperse them when they were embodied, & sometimes to prevent their forming detachments to carry on offensive operations. This deponent further states that much of the duty which he performed as a soldier of the revolutionary war was in guarding the American property and land near the Delaware bay & the Schooners & small craft which were principally employed in the American service, from depredations of the British navy who infested & haunted about the bay & inlets in that section of the country. He further states that he with the detachment were stationed six weeks on guard in an American Vessel which had been captured & robbed by the British seamen below Delaware bay, after being detained in this part of the country four months & marched in various directions on many different expeditions we were ordered on Board of a Shooner which sailed to Wilmington on the Brandywine from which place we were marched to Philadelphia where the troops arrived at Philadelphia this declarant states that he was severely afflicted with the rheumatic pains & unable to perform a soldiers duty, he was persuaded by his officers & other friends to take a furlough & return from the army until he would be sufficiently recovered to do military duty again, he accordingly returned & notwith this was about one month before the twelve months enlistment for expired, & he states before he was able to return to the army the twelve months tour for which he enlisted was expired, he states that at this remote period from the date of his services he cannot state precisely the year in which he enlisted, nor can he state with a correctness satisfactory to his own mind how long it was to the termination of the war after the time of his enlistment expired, according to the best of his recollection he enlisted about the year 1775 or 1776, the time of his service under said enlistment was some thing under twelve months, but he feels safe in stating his tour at eleven months; He further states that at the time the troops marched to Philadelphia to whom he was attached there was a General belonging to the regular army in the city, but he has he has now forgotten his name nor can he state whether or not said General held the command of the Maryland Regiment to which the deponent belonged.

He hereby relinquishes every claim whatever to a pension or annuity except the present & declares that his name is not on the pension roll of any Agency in any State.

Sworn to in open Court & subscribed the day and year aforesaid.

WAR DEPARTMENT,

Pension Office,

183

Sir:

The evidence in support of your claim, under the act of June 7, 1832, has been examined, and the papers are herewith returned. The following is a statement of your case in a tabular form. On comparing these papers with the following rules, and the subjoined notes, you will readily perceive that objections exist, which must be removed, before a pension can be allowed. Dear Madam:

Reference is made to your letter in which you request information in regard to John McNatt, who served with the Delaware Troops, was pensioned while residing in Tennessee, and whose wife's name was Benson.

The data which follow were obtained from the papers on file in Revolutionary War pension claim, S.2609, based upon the military service of John McNatt in that war.

John McNatt was born in 1759, in Kent County, Delaware. The names of his parents are not shown.

While residing in Kent County, Delaware, John McNatt enlisted in 1775 or 1776, served as a private in Captain Nathan Allen's Company, Colonel Hazlet's Delaware Regiment, called the "Delaware Blues"; length of service about eleven months.

He was allowed pension on his application executed November 6, 1832, at which time he was a resident of Lincoln County, Tennessee.

It is not stated that soldier was ever married.

In 1832, one Lewis Hutson made affidavit in Lincoln County, Tennessee, in support of soldier's claim for pension but did not state any relationship.

In order to obtain the date of last payment of pension, the name and address of person paid and possibly the date of death of the Revolutionary War pensioner, John McNatt (S.2609), you should address The Comptroller General, General Accounting Office, Records Division, this city, and cite the following data:

John McNatt, Certificate No. 7277, issued May 11, 1833, rate $32.22 per annum, commenced March 4, 1831, Act of June 7, 1832, West Tennessee Agency.

Very truly yours

A. D. MILLER
Executive Assistant to the Administrator.

CHAPTER XXX.

"She comes! the proud invader comes
To waste our country, spoil our homes;
To lay our towns and cities low,
And bid our mothers' tears to flow;
Our wives lament, our orphans weep—
To seize the empire of the deep!"—ANGUS UMPHRAVILLE.

CHASTISE THE AMERICANS INTO SUBMISSION! was the fiat of the British Cabinet at the close of 1812, and it was determined to send out a land and naval force sufficient to do it. It was evident that efforts such as have been recorded in preceding chapters would be made by the Americans for the invasion and conquest of Canada, and that the successes achieved by them on the ocean would stimulate them to the performance of more daring exploits on the waves which Britannia claimed to rule. These efforts must be met, and Great Britain put forth her strength for the purpose. It was determined to blockade and desolate the coasts of the United States, lay waste their sea-port towns, destroy their dock-yards, and thus not only endeavor to divert their military strength from the Canada frontier, but destroy the centres of their commercial and naval power, dispirit the people, intensify the domestic resistance to the further prosecution of the war, and secure the absolute submission of the nation to British insolence and greed. Admiral Warren's fleet in American waters was re-enforced, and Sir George Cockburn, a rear admiral in the British navy, and willing instrument in the accomplishment of work which honorable English commanders would not soil their hands with, was made his second in command. He was specially commissioned to wage a sort of amphibious and marauding warfare on the coasts, from the Delaware River southward.

On the 26th of December, 1812, an order in Council declared the ports and harbors of the Chesapeake and Delaware Bays to be in a state of rigorous blockade. Soon afterward additional ships of war and transports arrived at Bermuda, bearing a considerable land force, and well furnished with bomb-shells and Congreve rockets, to be used in the conflagration of sea-board towns.[1] A part of the land force consisted of French prisoners of war, who preferred to engage in the British marine service to enduring indefinite confinement in Dartmoor Prison, in England.

The first appearance of blockading vessels was on the 4th of February,[a] when three 74-gun ships and several smaller armed vessels[2] entered the Virginia Capes and bore up toward Hampton Roads. The fleet was under the command of Admiral Cockburn (whose flag-ship was the Marlborough), assisted by Commodore Beresford, whose pennant was over the Poictiers.[3] They bore a land force of about eighteen hundred men, and were well supplied with small surf-boats for landing. Their appearance alarmed all lower Virginia, and the militia of the Peninsula and the region about Norfolk were soon in motion. An order soon went out from the Secretary of

The body of the machine is cylindrical, and its head conical. It is filled with very inflammable materials, on the combustion of which, as in the common sky-rocket, the body is impelled with continued acceleration.

It was supposed that Hampton and Norfolk would be attacked. The latter was pretty well defended by fortifications which General Wade Hampton h to be thrown up on Craney Island miles below the city, under the su tendence of Colonel Armist masters and mates of merchan in Norfolk harbor joined them volunteer military companies and soned old Fort Norfolk. Th Constellation, 38, Captain Tarbelle, lying near, supported by a flotilla of boats. Old Point Comfort soon bri with bayonets; and the British manders thought it more prudent at time to destroy the small merchant found in Chesapeake Bay than to ente Hampton Roads. They did little more than this for several weeks, when modore Beresford was sent, with Poictiers, Belvidera, and some sm vessels, to blockade the Delaware Bay and River, and teach the inhabitants a their shores the duty of submission. He found his unwilling pupils very refract for when, on the 16th of March, he pointed the guns of the Poictiers toward th lage of Lewis, near Cape Henlopen, and said, in a note to "the first magistrate" that little town, "You must send me twenty live bullocks, with a proportionate quantity of vegetables and hay, for the use of his Britannic majesty's squadron," off to pay for them, but threatening, in the event of refusal, to destroy the place, "first magistrate" of Lewistown, and all the people, from Philadelphia to the sea, said in substance, as they every where prepared for resistance, "We solemnly refus commit legal or moral treason at your command. Do your worst." They had hea of his coming, and had already, on both sides of the bay and river, assembled in ar bodies at expected points of attack to repel the invaders. The spirit of the fath was aroused, some of whom, full of the fire of the flint, were yet abiding among th At Dover, on the Sabbath day, the drum beat to arms, and men of every denom tion in politics and religion, to the number of almost five hundred, responded to th call. Among them was Jonathan M'Nutt, an age-bent soldier of the Revolution, w exchanged his staff for a musket and engaged in the drill. Pious Methodist as he was, he did not regard the day as too holy for patriotic deeds, and he spent the whole afternoon in making ball-cartridges.[1] This was the spirit every where manifested. At Smyrna, New Castle, and Wilmington, the inhabitants turned out with spades or muskets, prepared to cast up the earth for bat teries and trenches,[2] or to be soldiers to meet the foe. At the latter place, the venerable soldier of the Revolution, Allan M'Lane, took the direction of military affairs.[3] The specie of the banks of New Castle and Wilmington was sent to Philadelphia for safety; and in the latter city Captain William Mitchell and his Independent Blues, and Captain Jacob H. William H. Paine. Mr. Paine is accounted a prosperous farmer and stockman of Lincoln Township, Christian County, Mo., and like the native Tennesseean he is progressive in his views and of an energetic temperament. He was born in Warren County in the year 1820, the fourth of eleven children born to Larkin and Rebecca (Huddleston) Paine, natives it is thought of Georgia and South Carolina. When both were young they moved with their parents to Tennessee and were married in Claiborne County of that State. Later they removed to Warren County, where they continued to make their home until 1829, when they made another move, this time to Independence County, Ark. In 1831 they came to Greene County, Mo., and located in the woods on James River, six miles southeast of Springfield. There they improved a good farm, but in 1834, on account of ill health, they moved to Kickapoose Prairie, six miles southwest of Springfield, and there Mr. Paine died in 1857. He had followed farming all his life, and as a citizen and neighbor was highly esteemed. He was with Gen. Jackson in the Creek War, and at an early day was elected by the Legislature as president of the bank at Springfield. A self-made man, with but limited education, he was a good calculator and seldom failed to unravel a complicated mathematical problem. He delighted in reading, and by his own perseverance and love of books became well posted on all the topics of the day. Mr. Paine was one of the very first settlers of Greene County, and experienced all the privations incident to pioneer life. His father, Daniel Paine, removed from Tennessee to Illinois, when the subject of this sketch was but a boy, and probably died there. He reared a large family. The mother of our subject died about 1887, near Ozark. She was a member of the Christian Church. Her father, David Huddleston, was a farmer and died in Claiborne County, Tenn. Our subject's brothers and sisters were named as follows: Anderson, died in Arkansas during the war, and left a large family; Daniel, a farmer of Greene County; Gavin, died when two years of age; William H., subject; Col. John W., of Texas, was in the Confederate Army in a Missouri Cavalry as colonel under Gen. Price (he is now a retired lawyer of considerable repute); Houston R. is a farmer of Greene County; Martha Jane is the widow of James Robinson; David M. died at Ozark about 1891, where he was engaged in the practice of law (he was quartermaster in the Confederate Army during the war;) Lucy was the wife of Levin McNatt; Mary A. was the wife of Lafayette Britton, and died in this county during the war; and Thomas Benton died during the war (he was a solder in the Eighth Missouri Cavalry, Federal Army). The original of this notice grew to manhood principally in Greene County, but his educational advatages were limited, as he never attended school over three months all together. This was on account of the pioneer times, for he was reared in the wilds of this county when they beat their corn meal with a pellet, and when there were no public schools. He well remembers when the Indians were thick in this section, and when the woods swarmed with wild animals. In those days our subject with other pioneers would haul goods from Boonville and St. Louis with five yoke of cattle, and was generally two weeks or more on the road, camping out at night and doing his own cooking. He took hides, etc., as did his neighbors, and traded them for groceries, etc. Nearly everything they wore was made at home. The first pair of pantaloons our subject had made in Missouri was made from the fiber from nettles he had gathered in the bottoms. The finer fibers were made into shirting and the coarser in other articles. These ambitious pioneers made boxes for family use by taking the bark of the buck-

BEFORE LINCOLN COUNTY

From the year 1799, with the formation Williamson County, Tennessee, the most western third of what was to become Lincoln County, in 1809 was then a part of Williamson County and so continued until Bedford was formed in December 1807. From 1803 to 1807 the eastern two thirds of the area was a part of Rutherford County.

From December 3, 1807 until November 14, 1809, Lincoln was the southern half of Bedford. In 1806, at the direction of the legislature, all the land in Middle Tennessee, that was situated south of the Military Reservation and east of the Congressional Reservation, was directed to be sectioned off into sections or townships consisting of range and section lines of six miles square each. Each section was to have 640 acres set aside within its bounds to be appropriated for the use of the common schools.

By 1850, this system of surveys had been abandoned and replaced by the present metes and bounds system.

INTRODUCTION

Our objective in these publications was to produce a complete abstract of the early land deeds of Lincoln County, Tennessee during the formative years of the county, at the same time to include all family and genealogical information contained in the documents.

Due to the ravages of time and war some few deeds have been destroyed or lost. When the document was not complete we attempted to record all information, however small, that may have been of value to the researcher.

We have long realized the importance of land deed research and have attepted to promote the publishing of these vital records. We hope these publications will make some small contribution to the preservation and availability of these valuable historical records.

Our special thanks to our friend, Lincoln County Executive, Mr. Jerry L. Mansfield, for his deep interest in Lincoln County history and in the historical publishing efforts by us on our native county.

Our thanks to Lincoln County Register Of Deeds, Mrs Maxine Thornton for extending to us, all the courtesies of her office.

Dear Ms. Nolan:

I found your Levan McNatt indexed in our book, but could not find his marriage license in the box of originals. I have searched through the 1802 and on up through the 1812, beaause I feel that it is or was here somewhere. Either someone doing research slipped it in their purse, or it got put into the wrong box.

I have searched so long that I am not charging you for the full search. Your check for $3.00 will be sufficient. If, sometime in the future I run across it somewhere, I will send it to you. I always keep the correspondence concerning genealogy that I do.

There is hope that I will find it because that it such an unusual name that I will remember it and then just today in searching for it, I found another one that I had been searching for and everyone had been off the date by about 23 years. I'never would have found it except by accident.

If I can help you in any way in the future, please let me know. Be sure to enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope with yourinquiries.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Mary Jane Sanders

GRAMMER CEMETERY

Location: T27N, R25W., Section 28; or, ca. 2 mi. NE of Marionville, Mo. Sets back in a field about ¼ mi. on private land. Cemetery is fenced but not maintained. It is becoming quite overgrown, partially covered with some type of bush which we were unable to penetrate. We found the stones for Peterson and Martha Grammer back under the edge of these bushes, both of which were down and partially covered with soil.

SPANISH FORT CEMETERY

Location: T27N, R27W, Section 13; or, ca. 3 mi. S. of Mt. Vernon.

1888 History of Missouri - Covering Lawrence, Barry, Newton & McDonald Counties....Goodspeed Pub. Co., Chicago, Ill.
Pg. 402 - Law. Co. Section gives us the following informatio "The Spanish Fort Cemetery, about 3 mi. S. of Mt. Vernon, is partly within the boundaries of the old fort, said to have been built there in the Seventeenth Century by the Spaniards. There is no written record of this early settlement so that its credit to the Spanish explorers, while acquiesced in by the pioneers, is merely legendary".

A large stone historical marker in front of the cemetery by the road reads as follows:

"Fort Ancient, believed to have been constructed by a group of eastward migrating mound builders, a band of Indians probably long antedating the Osages, on their way to what is now Ohio. These earthworks are a small replica of the great fort ancient in Ohio, where this prehistoric group reached its greatest culmination. This tribe probably had its village in the valley, and used these fortifications for defense. First pioneers describe the walls as originally about 5 ft. high and the moat 2 ft. deep. Springfield University Club Historical Marker No. 16 Erected Oct. 1930".

FOREWORD

The compiling of this book was begun in 1937 and continued through the years 1938 and 1939, with a cessation due to pressing business and Second World War until 1950, when the work was resumed.

While the work is not complete by any means, when we think of the many descendent families we were unable to trace due to lack of time and money, yet we have secured and put together enough to make it a very valuable record to the thousands of Jacob Miller's descendants now living and to future posterity.

There may be errors in names; the spelling of names, names in families left out, or names listed in the wrong family, as there is such a repetition of names, yet we have spared no effort or time in trying to make the entire book as authentic as was possible from the data gathered by my own efforts and that supplied by others, a list of whom I give you here, as follows;

Sigfus Olafson, Madison, Boone County, W. Va.
Rev. Albert R. Miller, Huntington, W. Va.
Rev. Manderville T. Miller, Madison, W. Va.
John P. Miller, Assurance, Monroe County, W. Va.
Leiton E. Miller, Beckley, W. Va.
Estle Miller, Beckley, W. Va.
Elbert W. Miller, Red Sulphur Springs, W. Va.
Lundy M. Miller, Oak Hill, W. Va.
Mrs. Mary Huffman, Creamery, Monroe County, W. Va.
William M. Comer, Greenville, W. Va.
Basil North Miller, Huntington, W. Va., furnished Part II.
I am also indebted to many others for individual family records.

EXPLANATORY NOTES:

We have recorded herein all the names and information at hand, which means that the compiler was unable to obtain additional records. Therefore further responsibility is respectfully waived by him.

Principle used herein: First the name, then date of birth and death, followed by "whom married," sometimes marked (m) before the name, and then, number of children often marked "ch." (Thus:- 7 ch.)

RECORD: A reunion known as the Miller-Halstead Reunion was inaugurated in 1936, the first meeting being held at Pence Springs, W. Va. However, this was discontinued when gas was rationed during World War II

In 1948 the Monroe County Millers, or a number of them, organized the Henry Miller Senior Reunion, which was held three consecutive years in the Copeland Grove at Wikel, then moved permanently to the Comer Grove (where lives Anday Ray Miller) on the old Frederick Comer home place, and near the original home site which is still owned by the Comer heirs.

INTRODUCTION

The following genealogy of the Miller family was complied by my great uncle, Everett Wayne Miller, from the years 1937 to 1953. The book as exhibited here is original with minor corrections and is complete with a short family history by Samuel H. Comer (written 1915) and a history of the Miller family by Samuel Silas Miller, Jr. (written in the years 1910 to 1912) as originally published in the1953 version of "Genealogy of Jacob Miller and His Descendants".

The genealogy of the Miller family has not been updated for 50 years

With the posting of this book on the Internet, it is hoped that from time to time that the Miller Genealogy can be updated and that the work started by Everett Wayne Miller in 1937 will continue.

If you have any comments or additions to make to this genealogy, please submit them to this web site.

Thanks,
Wayne Miller

CHAPTER ONE
JACOB MILLER, SENIOR-THE GERMAN EMIGRANT

According to Government records obtained by Sigfus Olafson, Jacob Miller was born in Germany in the year 1702 and came to America with his parents in 1715. They settled about 30 miles from the Port of Philadelphia, at a place known as Faulkner's Swamp. Here Jacob, the boy, lived to manhood and at the age of 23 married a German girl of the same name, who either came over with them, or at a later date; more probably at a later date, since she was from another part of Germany and spoke a different dialect. One spoke High German, being from the Highlands, while the other spoke Low German, being from the Lowlands.

Philadelphia being the port to which most of the early emigrants came, the nearby territory soon became thickly populated. Consequently they spread outward into the less settled parts of the surrounding country-Westward into the Pennsylvania Territory; South and Southwestward into the Virginia Territory.

JACOB MILLER and family went south westward along the southern fringe of the Allegheny Mountains and found their way into the Shenandoah Valley, making their home in the fertile valley of (now) Rockingham County, near the present town of Harrisonburg, where be reared his family.

'We do not know the date he settled there, neither do we know how many children, since records are incomplete covering these early settlers, and we understand the court house of Rockingham County was destroyed by fire with all the County records. However, we do have the names of the following children: (Date of birth not given)

1-Christian
2-Henry
3-Jacob, Jr.
4-John, sr.
5-George
6-Barbary
7-Katherine.

These were obtained in 1938 from Sigfus Olafson, who got them from U. S. Census records in Washington, D. C., as well as many other names of the descendants of Jacob Miller, given herein. See last paragraph of Chapter 2.

Inasmuch as we owe to Mr. Olafson so many of the names recorded herein prior to 1860, we think it very appropriate to quote his opening paragraphs as given in his records of "THE MILLER FAMILY OF BOONE COUNTY," as follows:

"Jacob Miller was born in Germany in 1702 and came to Philadelphia in 1715 when he was a boy of 13. He married a Miller, also a German, but not related to him, as one of the couple was from the highlands of Germany and spoke the dialect known as High German, while the other was from the lowlands and spoke the Low German dialect.

"At this time Philadelphia was the port to which most of the German immigrants came, as well as many immigrants of other nationalities. There was not room for them in that vicinity so they naturally spread outward into the less settled portions of Pennsylvania and southward along the eastern ridge of the mountains, which at that time were an almost insurmountable barrier. In that way a good many of them found their way into the Shenandoah Valley, among whom was Jacob Miller. He settled in Rockingham County and there reared a large family." (Among the children were those given above.)

CHAPTER TWO

THE CHILDREN OF JACOB MILLER, SR.

In this chapter we give you a brief history of the children of Jacob Miller, Sr.; who they married, where they went and the number of children born to each, as far as records obtained show.

1st-Jacob, Jr., born 1726, died 1806, married twice: First, Elizabeth Fudge in 1746 who bore him 9 children; 8 living to maturity. She died March 13, 1777, after they crossed the Allegheny Mountains and settled on Rich Creek just west of the present village of Lindside, Monroe County, W. Va. Second, Margaret Sullivan, who bore him 7 children. (See Chapter three.)

2nd and 3rd--Christian and Henry, who lived and died in Rockingham County, Virginia. I have the following from Joseph K. Roebush of Harrisonburg, Va., dated Sept. 5, 1951:

> "When you run into the Millers of Rockingham County, Va., you are running into a mighty host. Rockingham County was formed from Augusta County in 1778, so your material would be found in the Augusta County Records." I have not followed this up.

4th-JOHN SR., born 1735, died 1826. Buried in the old graveyard on the farm now owned by the William Pence heirs, but on the original land grant taken out by him in the year 1785. He married Barbary Mauze, a French girl, who bore him 9 children; 8 boys and I girl. He crossed the mountains in 1775 and settled on Indian Creek about 3 miles east of the present village of Greenville, Monroe County, W. Va.

5th-GEORGE, (no record of birth and death or marriage). He crossed the mountains with the others in 1775, stayed awhile on Indian Creek, but moved on westward into Kentucky, possibly around 1810, and settled in Madison County, south of Lexington. We understand he had a family of 14 children, but no further record at hand.

6th-BARBARY, born 1744, died 1819, married Jacob Mann. She and her husband were with the band that crossed the mountains in 1775 and took an active part in the pioneer settlements on Indian Creek. They had three children of which we have record: Lizzie, who married William Maddy and went to Tennessee; and Jacob and Adam, both of whom remained on Indian Creek and raised large families. These are the grand-dads of the host of Manns now residing in that vicinity.

7th-KATHERINE, married George Conrad and was also in the band that crossed the mountains in 1775. They stopped in the Gap Mills territory, Monroe County, where they took a land grant and stayed a number of years, then moved on into Kentucky, possibly with her brother George, but we have no further record.

HISTORY: - In the year 1775, about the outbreak of the Revolutionary War, and supposedly before the immortal words of Patrick Henry: "Give me liberty or give me death," spoken before the 2nd Virginia Convention assembled in St. John's Church, Richmond, on March 20, 1775, had reached the settlements in the Shenandoah, an expedition set out westward from that section, among whom were five of the Jacob Miller family, as mentioned above: "Jacob, Jr., John, George, Barbary and Katherine."

These westward bound emigrants followed the trail down the Cowpaster River, through the mountains via where Clifton Forge and Covington now stand, or possibly Hot Springs and Covington, and out into the Appalachian Plateau via Old Sweet Springs and Gap Mills. This trail had been used, according to Morton's History of Monroe County, since 1749 and must have been an accessible trail by this time. Morton says, pages 28, 29: "In 1769 there was a third and permanent occupation of the Great Levels around Lewisburg. The settlement of Monroe must have been quite as early * * *. The surveys along Indian Creek extended from the mouth nearly to the source * * *. The outbreak of the Dunmore war in the summer of 1774 found a chain of settlements all the way from Sweet Springs, Gap Mills and the head of Indian Creek, and thence down Indian Creek to its mouth." Morton's History seems to be authentic. Also, according to the History of West Virginia by Virgil A. Lewis, the first settlement in Greenbrier County was in 1761, which settlement was completely wiped out by the Indians in 1763. Lewis also says that in 1769 a number of families again settled in Greenbrier, and that a camp was established known as Camp Union, later as Fort Savannah, now Lewisburg, the County Seat of Greenbrier County, Thus, the two historians seem to agree relative to permanent settlements beginning in 1769, six years before the Millers came across the mountains.

Another fact worthy of note is that a peace treaty had been made with the Indians in 1774 as a result of the Dunmore War and the battle at Point Pleasant where the Indians were defeated. This evidently had a bearing on the decisions of our forefathers to take up settlement on the west of the mountains. These facts also would bear out the writer's deduction that the COOK FORT at Greenville, was not built by the Millers and Manns, but by earlier settlers there, one of whom was named Cook. Morton's History mentions a number of forts being used in Monroe County during the Indian hostilities which started again in 1775, agitated by the British and renegades at the start and through the Revolutionary War for independence, Cook's Fort being mentioned as one of them.

I have in my possession 24 typewritten pages of history and genealogy of the Hans Creek Millers, written by Samuel Silas Miller, Jr., in the year of 1910, which is recorded in Part II of this book. You will find this very interesting, as he gives numerous traditions, incidents, customs and usages of that time, as well as that of the earlier and pioneer days.

I also have 9 pages of legal size paper written by an attorney, one Sigfus Olafson, dated "Madison, W. Va., March 19, 1938," the heading of which is:"The Miller Family of Boone County." Mr. Olafson was then a Land Title Attorney employed by large coal land interests, consequently spent much time in Washington, D. C., looking up original land grants, and while there obtained the records given me. Mr. Olafson told me he had compiled similar data on all the prominent families of Boone County, down to about 1860, later records not being open to the public.

CHAPTER THREE

THE FAMILY OF JACOB MILLER, JR., BY HIS SON PETER
(Complete in This Chapter)

JACOB MILLER, JR., first son of Jacob, Sr., was born in 1726 in Pennsylvania, 30 miles from Philadelphia, near Falkner's Swamp. He removed to Rockingham County, Va., and married Elizabeth Fudge about the year 1748 or '49. She bore him 9 children; 8 of them lived to maturity, being as follows: (We don't have date of birth and death of these)

|---|---|---|
| 1-Jacob, the Third | 4-Elizabeth | 7-John |
| 2-Charles | 5-Katherine | 8--George |
| 3-Mary | 6-Barbary | |

JACOB, III, married an Estill [Note: The Estills were among the first settlers in Monroe County, one family settling on Indian Creek just below the mouth of Dropping Lick some years before the Millers and Manns settled there, according to Land Grants and Morton's History of Monroe County] and went to Kentucky where he raised a large family. At an advanced age he moved to Illinois where he died from bleeding at the nose.

2nd-CHARLES: Went with Jacob to Kentucky. Never married.

3rd-MARY: Married Augustine Price, whose children live in Warren County, Ohio.

4th-ELIZABETH: Married a Caperton (Hugh). Many of their descendants are now living in Monroe County, W. Va. (1863). [Note: As I remember when a boy, the Caperton home was situate about a half mile north of Union, Monroe County, and was a very fine estate, the Capertons being wealthy; U. S. Senator Allen T. Caperton being of this family.]

5th-KATHERINE: Married a Walker and moved to Texas at an early day, where she raised her family.

6th-BARBARY (1767-1852): Married Rev. John Maddy, lived her 85 years on a farm near Greenville, Monroe County, W. Va., and raised nine children that lived to maturity. [Note: She was the grandmother of the Greenville Maddies.]

7th-JOHN: Married a Handley, a cousin of old Billy, in 1803. In middle life he moved to Decatur County, Indiana, where he raised most of his family. He died at an advanced age.

8th-GEORGE (1770-1855): Married a Swope and had 13 children, all of whom he settled on farms of their own (supposedly in Monroe County in the Rich Creek sector). At an advanced age he moved to Iowa, where he died at the age of 85.

This ends the history of said Jacob Miller's children by his first wife. In 1775 he moved from Rockingham County, Va., to Monroe County, where his wife died, March 13, 1777, and was buried on Rich Creek. He here married Margaret Sullivan, who bore him 7 children as follows:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1-Daniel | 3-Ellen | 5-Joseph | 7-Rhoda |
| 2-Peter | 4-Margaret | 6-Sarah | |

DANIEL-Died in early life.

FOUR SONS OF FIRST MERCHANT

The McNatt brothers, Washington, Carr, Alan R. and John J., all sons of John C. McNatt, who came to this township in 1837 and who was the town's first merchant.

They were descendants of a family who emigrated from Scotland prior to 1700, and ancestors fought in both the Revolution and War of 1812.

Washington McNatt was born in 1854. He was a prominent farmer, a stockholder and director in the Bank of Aurora. Eldon McNatt, Aurora real-estate man, is a grandson.

Carr McNatt became a partner in his father's store, studied and practiced law, became Aurora's first mayor, was the first president of the Bank of Aurora, was elected circuit judge and died in 1923. The late E. J. McNatt was a son.

Alan R. McNatt enlisted in the Union army in 1864 at the age of 16, served all through the war. He became his father's partner until 1875, when he became a farmer. In 1902 he was first elected state senator. He retired from farming and moved to Aurora.

John J. McNatt was the only son to leave Aurora, moving to McDonald county and later to Neosho. His son, John L. McNatt, returned to Aurora, became the law partner of his uncle, Carr, and later his cousin, Eugene J. He was prosecuting attorney of Lawrence county.

FIRST BOY TO GROW UP IN AURORA

George W. Rinker was the first little boy to grow up in what is now Aurora. His father, Joseph Rinker, brought him here when he was three years old in 1840.

He became a schoolmaster, was Lawrence county clerk when the Civil War broke out, served in the legislature toward the end of the war and was elected again later. He was probate judge and presiding judge of the Lawrence county court, and moderator of the Ozark Presbytery of the Presbyterian church three terms.

TO HONEY CREEK IN 1846

James Dobbins Hillhouse and his brother, Elijah B. Hillhouse, came from Tennessee in 1836 to settle on Honey creek north of Aurora. The former was named for their maternal grandfather, James Dobbins, a Revolutionary war soldier, and is pictured at right.

They were among the first settlers in what is now Aurora township, and many of their descendants still live here.

James Dobbins Hillhouse farmed for 52 years, later moving to Aurora, living here until shortly before his death. His diary was reproduced in the Advertiser in 1970.

>From "Clippings from Chieftain printed 50 years ago"

[To] Editor Chieftain:

I am now eight hundred miles away from you and in the county where I was born and spent the first 27 years of my life. The country is much changed since I left it 43 years ago and I feel like Rip Vanwinkle after his long sleep of twenty years. I had to feel of myself to see if it was me. I went to church today and met with many among them who knew me in person. Among them was a brother of John COLYER and a brother of old William LOGAN, and many others who had heard their parents speak of me. I am now as delighted with this mountain scenery as I would be at a circus show. I went yesterday to a spring near where I was born over 72 years ago. This morning have seen the grave of my father's youngest brother. I am proud that I visited this country. Tomorrow I go to Lukhorn county to visit other friends where you may hear from me again.

entertainments, and plays at the Congregational Church.

The company bought forty thousand acres of land in Shannon County in 1901 for five hundred thousand dollars, an investment which turned out to be a profitable one and which extended the life of the company for several years. Because of fire hazards, the Missouri Lumber and Mining Company carried some three hundred thousand dollars worth of insurance with nearly thirty companies, employed three to five lawyers on annual retainers and played an important part in elections on the local, state, and national levels.

Late in 1907, the mill at Grandin began to slacken, and it was closed September 30, 1909. In 1910, the company began to sell the town by lots to interested individuals, and moved its operations to West Eminence, in Shannon County, Missouri. The company did not abandon iron ore prospecting until 1912, at which time the Missouri Lumber and Mining Company came to an end, some thirty-two years after its founding, forced to abandon the region because no resource could be found to replace the timber. For some time thereafter, the company was active in the disposition of cutover land suitable for agriculture, but it was not the economic and political force it had been in the Ozarks for many years.

EUGENE J. McNATT—Considered the first citizen of Aurora, Eugene J. McNatt, an attorney, who was also president of the Aurora Bank and active in other local business enterprises, came from a family long prominent in the area. Although practising from a small town, his mastery of the law led to a statewide reputation. He was active in Democratic politics in Missouri, and took a leading part in several historic election races, supporting Governors Stark and Donnelly.

Mr. McNatt was a native of Aurora, the son of Carr McNatt. His father was the first attorney in Aurora, and the town's first mayor. He was judge of the circuit court for many years, and one of the founders of the Bank of Aurora, taking a leading part in all local business and legal organizations. E. J. McNatt's grandfather, John C. McNatt, was one of the pioneer settlers of Lawrence County, coming there from Tennessee in 1837. The first merchant in Aurora, he homesteaded the land on which the town was founded. A surveyor, he did much of the early surveying work in and around Aurora. Considering this background, it is not surprising that the local paper of Aurora said of Mr. McNatt: "He was the third man in direct family line to have played important roles in the history of Aurora and Lawrence county during a period of more than 100 years. In many ways their history is that of the town."

After graduating from the Aurora High School E. J. McNatt went to the University of Missouri. After attending three and a half years, he passed the Missouri Bar in February 1912, and began his private practice in Aurora, which he was to maintain for thirty-five years until his retirement from actual courtroom appearances, in 1947. From then, until his death in 1960, he was occupied with his banking, business and political activities.

Early in his career, he served as city attorney under his father-in-law, the late T. A. Miller, who was then mayor. Both men contributed their salaries to the Maple Park endowment fund. Mr. McNatt also filled a term as the prosecuting attorney of Lawrence County, his only elective public office.

He began his law practice with his cousin, John L. McNatt, and then practiced alone for a number of years after J. L. McNatt moved from Aurora. He then brought a young attorney, Richard McPherson, into the firm as a partner. Mr. McPherson later went to Joplin, and his brother, the late Judge Rex V. McPherson, took his place in the office. Judge McPherson was still on the bench and they could not be partners.

From his small town in the Ozarks, Mr. McNatt's fame as an attorney grew until he was handling cases statewide in Missouri, and appearing before the Federal bench. He was known as an "attorney's attorney," and was often called on to represent other lawyers or act as their counsel in both criminal and civil cases. Despite frequent offers of greater financial return and renown in a larger locale, he would not leave Aurora. He was particularly admired for his profound understanding of the law, his long and careful preparation of cases, no matter their degree of importance, and his courtroom ease and mastery of procedure.

Among his important cases was his defense of the Majestic Flour Mills, at the first hearing ever held in the United States under the then-new Wagner Act. Held on the third floor of the Potter Building, in Aurora, this turned into a long and arduous case. Mr. McNatt knew from the beginning that his was the losing side, under the interpretations then in effect, but his defense was so skillful, and his arguments so trenchant, that the points he raised were believed to have had some influence on the later replacement of that Act by the Taft-Hartley Act.

Mr. McNatt gave his time during World War II as chairman of the appeal board for the Fourth Missouri District of Selective Service. He also served as chairman of the bar committee of the Twenty-Fourth Judicial Circuit, a five-year appointment from the Missouri Supreme Court.

In addition to his full life in the law, he had an equally rounded business career. One of the founders of the Aurora Bank, he was president at the time of his death. He also served on the board of directors of the Empire District Electric Company; and he was a director of the Aurora Building and Loan Association from its inception until it ceased operations after World War II. He was a partner in the local Ford agency for a number of years, and he was active in real estate in both Aurora and Springfield.

Mr. McNatt did not wish to hold local civic offices, but he was credited with playing an important part in local affairs by acting as an advisor to numerous committees, organizations, city councils, and other boards and groups. He also acted as spokesman and representative of the community when it was necessary to deal with state and national governmental agencies and individuals. In this light, it was said of him that "His contributions were among the most valuable ever rendered by an Auroran." Although a Democrat, he was appointed by Governor Forrest Donnell, a Republican, to the state eleemosynary board. On the other hand, he was named by three Democratic governors, Stark, Donnelly, and Blair, as an honorary colonel on their staffs.

He was an active and proficient political partisan of the Democratic Party at all levels. Chairman of the Lawrence County Democratic Committee for two years, he was also a member of the Democratic State Committee for six years, and was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention.

At the local level, his participation in many election campaigns in Lawrence County was credited with creating upsets in that usually Republican county. In Missouri itself, he took an important part in many successful Democratic gubernatorial and senatorial races, including those of Lloyd C. Stark for both governor and senator. At the time of the Billings-Douglas struggle for the Supreme Court nomination, which marked the end of the Prendergast machine's control of Democratic politics, Mr. McNatt took a definite stand and strongly supported the successful Douglas. He also gave his efforts toward electing Phil M. Donnelly twice for governor, and to securing the Democratic nomination for governor for Allen McReynolds of Carthage.

Eugene J. McNatt was married to Lois Miller, a graduate of Monticello College, Godfrey, Illinois. Her father was formerly mayor of Aurora, and her family, on both sides, is pioneer Missouri stock. Mrs. McNatt's great-grandfather, Bird Miller, came to Green County, in 1830, and homesteaded one hundred sixty acres which are now part of Springfield, part of the farm comprising one of the city's parks. Mrs. McNatt herself was born in Greenfield, Missouri. Mr. and Mrs. McNatt were the parents of a daughter, Rosemary, a graduate of Wellesley College and a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She married Dr. Miller O. McNay, of St. Louis, Missouri, graduate of Virginia Military Institute and the University of St. Louis, specializing in ear, nose and throat, at Henry Ford Hospital, in Detroit, Michigan. They now live in St. Petersburg, Florida, and have two sons: Terence, a graduate engineer of Tufts College, in Boston, who is currently an ensign in the United States Navy, stationed in San Diego, California; Anthony, who spent two years in the United States Coast Guard Academy and then transferred to Davidson College, in North Carolina.

On January 19, 1960, Mr. McNatt died in Aurora, Missouri. Expressions of loss came from all over the state. In the local paper of Aurora, he was described as ". . . the man to whom Aurora turned when it was in trouble . . . when it needed a voice to plead its case. . . . It is to be doubted if any small-town Missourian not in public office played a more important, though private, role in the fight to wrest control of the Democratic Party in Missouri away from the Prendergast machine which held it captive for some years. . . . Gene McNatt enjoyed hunting and fishing more than anything else, we believe. . . . He loved the streams of the Ozarks—knew them as well as he knew the streets of Aurora. And he deplored their loss to the impoundments. . . . Yes, if Aurora has had a first citizen, it was Gene McNatt. . . ."

HAROLD FREDERICK JAMES, SR.—A career in banking that has spanned more than a half century in Nebraska and Missouri has made Harold Frederick James, Sr., one of the better known banking executives in the latter state, president and principal owner of the Home Bank at Savannah, Missouri. He was an executive with banks and governmental finance agencies in Omaha, Nebraska, before returning to Missouri in 1949. Mr. James is a leading citizen of Savannah and Andrew County, a former president of the Savannah Chamber of Commerce and very active in the Masons as well as the Shrine, and former potentate of Moila Temple in St. Joseph.

He was born in Atchison County, Missouri, near Skidmore, and grew up in that area. His parents were Jacob Edward and Lola (Martin) James, his father a native of Missouri and his mother of Illinois. The paternal grandfather, Joseph Asberry James, was in Missouri at the outbreak of the Civil War. He served in the Grand Army of the Republic and was with General Grant at Columbia, South Carolina. Jacob Edward James, father of the subject, was a farmer and kept active on his land for many years.

It was in Nodaway County, Missouri, that Harold F. James grew through boyhood toward maturity. He worked in the fields, and began helping with farm chores and the feeding of animals at an early age. This was rural Missouri and its schools were of the one-room, one-teacher variety some of the time. Mr. James completed his junior year in the local high school before moving to Siloam Springs, Arkansas, and there he completed his education at the Siloam Springs Commercial College.

As a high school student, he had decided to become a banker when possible, and Harold F. James did not sit on the chance but took a job as runner and then clerk in the First National Bank at Siloam Springs. He did not work there for very long but, in 1914, he became assistant cashier at the Bank of Commerce in Siloam Springs and was on his way toward the goal he had set. Mr. James worked there for about two years. He joined the staff of the Gilliam Jackson Loan and Trust Company in 1916 and from that time until 1920 worked there and for the Central States Mortgage Company in St. Joseph, Missouri. Not accepted for military service in World War I, he concentrated on banking and was in Nebraska in 1920. From that year until 1933 he was assistant secretary and vice president of the Omaha Trust Company and the Omaha National Company, both affiliated with the Omaha National Bank in Nebraska's largest city. The Depression that started in 1929 forced many banks as well as commercial firms to the wall. Some were saved, some closed and others reorganized. The New Deal made many changes in the banking laws, beginning in 1933, and also set up agencies to give relief to depositors as well as land owners and farmers. Mr. James was made vice president and chairman of the Nebraska Loan Commission of the Federal Land Bank of Omaha in 1933 and held this office until 1937. In the latter year he became vice president of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation, a division of the Farm Credit Administration in Washington, D. C. Mr. James held this office until 1948, at which time he had compiled a total of twenty years in banking, including mortgage and trust department work, and spent fifteen years as executive of state and federal finance agencies.

It was in 1949 that he secured control of the Home Bank at Savannah, Missouri, through a majority stock purchase and returned to the state of his birth to resume his banking career. He acted as president and once again enjoyed direct contact with depositors and borrowers, feeling more independent in a bank he controlled than in representing the government and observing the many technicalities of such administration. Mr. James has made this bank a sure asset in the community, a place for safe deposit, and useful as a source of funds for home or business. His sound banking policies have never been questioned and he has earned high respect in the community, but it has also been his policy to help as many people as possible in the community with needed funds. On occasion, when security is not too valuable he falls back on character judgment and his average in this department is very high.

Across his desk come most of the area's troubles. His position gives him a keen insight into the workings of the town and county. Mr. James knows land and its value, its uses and the way it must be cared for; all of which is very important in a rural community where agriculture is a dominant way of life. Many farmers must borrow in order to plant in the spring and carry themselves until the first harvest. Mr. James has been sympathetic and generous in furnishing such help whenever possible to do so.

While residing in Nebraska he was a member of the state's Mortgage Bankers Association. Mr. James is currently a member of the Missouri Bankers Association and the American Bankers Association. He also belongs to the United States Chamber of Commerce. A Mason of both the York and Scottish Rite, he holds the Thirty-second Degree in that organization. Also a member of Moila Temple in St. Joseph of the Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine and the Jesters, he has held high office in both Masonic bodies and the Shrine. Mr. James was elected potentate of the

She was vice president of the Second Congressional District Women's Democratic Club, and served as campaign manager for Democratic women in Missouri for President Truman. JOHN HARDING McNATT—Admitted to the bar of Missouri in 1929, the late John Harding McNatt practiced law in St. Louis for years, but also acted as railroad claim agent, as enforcement attorney for the Office of Price Administration, and was an industrial executive before death ended his career on February 5, 1964. He became general counsel for the Missouri Portland Cement Company in 1944, and was elected vice president of the firm in 1954. Mr. McNatt was first president of the St. Louis County Bar Association in 1940, was an original member of the board for Mutual Federal Savings and Loan Association, and served as a director of the Associated Industries of Missouri.

He was born in Aurora, Missouri, on June 16, 1905, the son of John L. and Ollie (Kennedy) McNatt. The McNatt family has been located in the State of Missouri for nearly a century and the subject represents the third generation. His grandfather, John J. McNatt, operated flour mills in Neosha, Missouri. John L. McNatt, father of the subject, was active as an attorney in this state for many years and served as prosecuting attorney of Lawrence County in 1906. He was also chairman of the Missouri Commission to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in 1915. Eventually settling in St. Louis, he headed a law firm there for some years, and for a time his son joined him in practice. John Harding McNatt grew up in this state and attended its public schools. He completed the elementary grades and entered the freshman class at Joplin, spent two academic years there, then moved to University City and completed his secondary education. Washington University in St. Louis offered an excellent opportunity to complete his education and prepare for a professional life. He belonged to Kappa Alpha and Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity. His father's profession appealed to him, and Mr. McNatt completed the pre-law courses necessary for entrance to the law school and remained at Washington University to graduate with the Class of 1929, with the degree of Bachelor of Laws.

After passing the bar examination he was admitted to practice in the courts of Missouri in 1929. Graduating in a year of national depression, he did not open his own office or find a place in one of the established offices. The depression was a factor in his decision to take a position as claim agent with the Missouri Pacific Railroad. Most of 1930 and 1931 was spent as a claim agent with headquarters offices at Coffeyville, Kansas, but he traveled considerably in the Kansas-Missouri area. His next move was to St. Louis where his father was engaged in the practice of law, and he joined him at the office he maintained in the city. Mr. McNatt was named assistant prosecuting attorney of St. Louis County in 1932, and after serving for a time in that capacity he was made associate prosecuting attorney. He was involved in the prosecution of many important cases during the six years he was associated with this office, and his name became well known in legal circles as well as to a considerable section of the reading public. Mr. McNatt was in the public eye during the successful prosecution in the kidnap trial at Mexico, Missouri, of Mrs. Nellie Tipton Meunch.

After leaving the prosecuting attorney's office, he was engaged in the private practice of law from 1939 until 1941. During World War II, Mr. McNatt took a position as assistant director of industrial relations for the Atlas Powder Company at their plant in Weldon Springs, Missouri. The Atlas Company expanded tremendously for wartime manufacture and he was very busy, but left at a later date to become enforcement attorney for the Office of Price Administration. It was in 1944 when Mr. McNatt became associated with the Missouri Portland Cement Company as general counsel. This firm is a growing industry of the metropolitan area and serves a large section of the nation. For a decade he devoted his attentions to the legal requirements of this company and in 1954 he was elected vice-president of the firm. For the last decade of his life he served as counsel, executive, and a member of the board of directors. He brought to these positions a broad background in law, legal prosecution, practical experience in claims, and a knowledge of industrial operations. Such skills and experiences were advantageous in administrative work, and he established an excellent reputation as an industrial executive.

Other interests included serving on the board of directors of Associated Industries of Missouri, and Mr. McNatt was a member of the original board of the Mutual Federal Savings and Loan Association. Active in affairs of the Democratic party, he worked with the various party organizations in the St. Louis metropolitan area and participated in campaigns. A member of the St. Louis County, Missouri, and American Bar associations, he was the first attorney to be elected president of the St. Louis County Bar Association and served in 1940. He was also a member of the Circuit Bar Committee for a number of years, and in 1942 was chairman of the Civilian Defense Speakers Bureau. As a freeholder and attorney he headed the St. Louis County Charter Commission in 1949 which compiled an acceptable charter for this area. He was a member and had served as a director of the Chamber of Commerce of Metropolitan St. Louis. His civic club was Rotary, and memberships included the Algonquin Golf Club, the Clayton Club, University Club, and Lawyers Club. Favorite pastimes were fishing and hunting. Mr. McNatt was a member of the University Methodist Church.

Edith Henson became the wife of John Harding McNatt in a ceremony performed at Nowata, Oklahoma, on December 19, 1930. She is the daughter of James and Clara (Redinbo) Henson, both natives of the area around Atchison, Kansas. Mrs. McNatt was secretary to one of the officials in the office of the Missouri Pacific Railroad in Coffeyville, Kansas, at the time her future husband was a claim agent for the railroad, and it was there they met. She shared many of her husband's ideals, enthusiasms, and civic responsibilities, has been active in social service and charity projects, and is a volunteer worker at Children's Hospital in the city. Mr. and Mrs. McNatt were the parents of two daughters: 1. Mariah Martha attended Washington University in St. Louis and is now Mrs. Martin Nyvall. They are the parents of John Martin and James McNatt. 2. Linda Lou was a student at the University of Colorado and married James R. Kearney, III. Their children are Rebecca Lee and James R. Kearney, IV.

John Harding McNatt passed away after a short illness, at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis, on February 5, 1964.

RICHARD S. BROWNLEE, II, Ph.D.—An educator who formerly served on the faculty of the University of Missouri, Dr. Richard S. Brownlee, II, was named director of the State Historical Society of Missouri in May, 1960. Holder of four degrees from the state University, Dr. Brownlee is an author in the field of Missouri History.

With a Linn County family background reaching back five generations in the state, he was born at Brookfield, on March 12, 1918, the son of Ellis C. and Mary Margaret (Shore) Brownlee. Both of his parents attended the University, as did his great-grandfather and his grandfather, for whom he was named. His mother's family came initially from St. Charles County, Missouri, but later moved to Chillicothe and to Columbia, where his mother was reared. Dr. Brownlee's maternal uncle, Thomas Spencer Shore, also a graduate of the university, is president of the Eagle-Picher Company and prominent in industry. Another maternal uncle, Dr. Benjamin Shore, also a university graduate, retired recently after a distinguished career as a surgeon in New York City. Ellis C. Brownlee and his brother Rollins H. Brownlee both attended the university and were officers of the Brownlee-Moore Bank in Brookfield, which was founded by Dr. Brownlee's great-grandfather. Ellis C. and Mary Margaret (Shore) Brownlee are also the parents of a daughter, Betty. She is the wife of Frank L. Martin, Jr., editor and publisher of the West Plains Daily Quill and son of the late Frank L. Martin, who was dean of the University of Missouri School of Journalism.

After graduation from Brookfield High School in 1935, Richard S. Brownlee entered the University of Missouri. He was graduated with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in 1939 (majoring in History and English), and received a Bachelor of Journalism Degree in 1940. As an undergraduate he became a member of Sigma Nu Fraternity.

In January, 1941, Dr. Brownlee entered the Army of the United States as a private. He served in the Infantry and Army Air Force until he was honorably discharged as a captain in December, 1945. He completed his military service as a Special Staff Officer on the General Staff of the Western Flying Training Command.

After working briefly on newspapers at Lebanon and Warrensburg, Missouri, Dr. Brownlee entered the Graduate School of the University of Missouri in the summer of 1947. He obtained his Master of Arts Degree in History in 1950 and his Ph.D. Degree in History in 1955. His primary work was in western military history, and the subject for both his Master's thesis and his Doctor's dissertation was military.

From 1947 until 1950 Dr. Brownlee was a graduate assistant teaching in the History Department. In 1950 he was made Assistant Director of Adult Education at the University of Missouri and placed in charge of the state-wide academic extension class program. He continued to teach as a part-time Instructor and Assistant Professor until 1960. In this period he also served as special assistant to President Elmer Ellis of the University when Ellis was chairman of the University of Missouri Bond Building Drive.

In 1958 Louisiana State University Press published Dr. Brownlee's book, "Gray Ghosts of the Confederacy," a scholarly military history of guerrilla warfare on the western border between 1861-1865. This book has become a best-seller in its field, and because of its popularity was a Civil War Book Club selection in 1959. Dr. Brownlee has also contributed to professional historical and archaeological journals. He had a field in American Anthropology and Archaeology in his doctoral program, is an ardent amateur archaeologist, and an informed student of the American Indian.

Since being appointed Director of the State Historical Society of Missouri, at Columbia, Dr. Brownlee has planned the furnishing and supervised the movement of the Society's 360,000 volume research library into multimillion dollar new quarters. This included the transfer of the largest state historical newspaper collection in the United States. He now supervises a staff of forty-five full and part-time employees, and directs the activities of all research libraries as well as an art gallery under the immediate supervision of a trained curator. Under his direction the use of the Society's libraries for research purposes have tripled.

Dr. Brownlee has supervised the Society's publication of four books during the past five years: "The Messages and Proclamations of Governor James T. Blair," "A Missouri Historic Sites Catalogue," "Missouri Newspapers," "When and Where, 1808-1963," and "The Messages and Proclamations of Governor John M. Dalton." As State Director of National Library Week in Missouri for 1963 he edited the publication of "A Catalogue of Specialized Libraries in Missouri." He also is the editor of the Society's quarterly magazine, "The Missouri Historical Review."

Dr. Brownlee was the Director of the Missouri Cultural Exhibit in the Missouri Pavilion at the New York World's Fair. He also is Chairman of the Missouri State Park Board Historical Sites Advisory Committee and is a member of the Missouri Civil War Centennial Commission, the First Missouri State Capitol Restoration Commission, the State Records Commission, and the Governor's Graves Commission.

From 1961 until 1963 Dr. Brownlee was the Assistant Director of the University of Missouri's Western Historical Manuscripts Collection. This collection was integrated with the Society's Manuscript Collection in May, 1963, and since that time Dr. Brownlee has been the Director of the joint collections.

Dr. Brownlee was married in 1942 to Alice Rowley of New Haven, Missouri, who attended Christian College in Columbia, and then graduated from the University that year. Mrs. Brownlee is a member of the pioneer Trail family of Franklin County, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma social sorority, and received a Bachelor of Science Degree from the University. Dr. and Mrs. Brownlee have two children, Margaret Ann, and Richard.

ARTICLE I. I direct the payment of all of my just debts and expenses of my funeral and burial as soon as practicable after my death, and authorize the purchase of a suitable grave marker, if not already provided.

ARTICLE II. All of the rest, residue and remainder of my property, real, personal and mixed, of every kind and character, I give, devise and bequeath unto my beloved wife, Nellie M. McNatt.

OBITUARIES

C. Wayne Henderson (11/10/1931 – 4/4/2000) – Lionism lost one of its leaders last month when Past International Director (1992-94) Lion Wayne Henderson died following an apparent heart attack. A Lion since 1969 when he joined the Ferguson Lions Club, Lion Wayne held most of the key offices in lionism including District Governor from District 26-A2 in 1985-86. He has been honored with many awards in lionism including the International Leadership award, four International President's Awards, and the Ambassador of Good Will Award. He is also a Melvin Jones Fellow. More importantly Lion Wayne has been a friend and is an outstanding example of our motto, We Serve. At the time of his death he was highly involved in many activities in Missouri Lionism. To say Lion Wayne will be missed is an understatement. His many friends within Missouri Lionism, from all states and provinces in the US and Canada, and from around the world will remember him and look to his example for guidance.

Eldon McNatt -- A member of the Aurora Lions Club and District Governor (1963-64) from District 26-E, Lion Eldon McNatt died April 25, 2000. Among his many offices and activities Lion McNatt was probably best known to the Lions of Missouri for his service to the Lions Business opportunities for Missouri Blind, Inc (LBOMB). He served this organization from its inception to his death, with the exception of the required breaks in service, as both a member and occasional officer. Many times he served as the President of the Board of Directors. Lion McNatt was consistently one of its most dedicated members and as such will be remembered fondly by the Blind Vendors of Missouri, the Business Enterprise Program and the Lions of Missouri.

Fred Phillips (7/21/39 – 3/20/2000) – Lion Phillips joined lionism in June of 1972 and served four clubs, the Fenton MO Lions Club, Pacific MO Lions Club, Concord Village MO Lions Club, and the Lake Havasu City Arizona Lions Club, the first two as president. Lion Fred represented the Pacific Lions Club and the Lions of District 26-A1 as District Governor for the year 1989-90 and the Lions of Missouri as Council Chairman the same year. As part of his responsibilities as Council Chairman he served on the Board of Directors of the Missouri Lions Eye Research Foundation. Later for the period 1992-98 he again served on that board as a representative of District 26-A1 from the Concord Village Lions. Lion Phillips was a Melvin Jones Fellow. Lion Fred was well known to the Lions of District 26-A1 and Missouri as a Lion who lived up to the Lions motto "We Serve".

Sara Janes - a very active and well known business and civic leader in the Qulin area died September 14 1999 in Albuquerque New Mexico. She was born November 23, 1928 in Doniphan. At time of her death she was the Treasurer of the Qulin Lions Club. Her Club and her community will certainly miss this active and involved community member.

Vernon Myer – Served as District Governor and Council Chairman (1988-89) from the Altenburg Lions Club in District 26-D. Lion Myer was the Council Chairman who put song back into the Council of Governors meetings and showed slides of some of his many trips including the International Convention in Australia. A friend to all Missouri Lions died April 24, 2000.

Dr. Joseph S. Shockey – Served as District Governor (1979-80) from the Kansas City Alpha Lions Club, a member since 1948, in District 26-G. Lion Shockey was well known for his wit. He could quickly defuse any tense situation. An article about Doc appeared in the November Issue of this Newsletter. Doc died December 17, 1999. Lion Shockey and his jokes will long be remembered.

Horst Glimka – was a member of the O'Fallon Lions Club in District 26-A2. Members of Lion Horst's club and district as well as those who attended State and International Conventions knew Lion Glimka as an active, very dedicated, outspoken Lion who was not afraid to roll up his sleeves and get his hands dirty for lionism. Lion Horst Glimka died January 9, 2000 after a period of poor health. Lion Horst will certainly be missed.

SPANISH FORT CEMETERY

Location: T27N, R27W, Section 13; or, ca. 3 mi. S. of Mt. Vernon.

1888 History of Missouri - Covering Lawrence, Barry, Newton & McDonald Counties....Goodspeed Pub. Co., Chicago, Ill. Pg. 402 - Law. Co. Section gives us the following informatio "The Spanish Fort Cemetery, about 3 mi. S. of Mt. Vernon, is partly within the boundaries of the old fort, said to have been built there in the Seventeenth Century by the Spaniards. There is no written record of this early settlement so that its credit to the Spanish explorers, while acquiesced in by the pioneers, is merely legendary".

A large stone historical marker in front of the cemetery by the road reads as follows:

"Fort Ancient, believed to have been constructed by a group of eastward migrating mound builders, a band of Indians probably long antedating the Osages, on their way to what is now Ohio. These earthworks are a small replica of the great fort ancient in Ohio, where this prehistoric group reached its greatest culmination. This tribe probably had its village in the valley, and used these fortifications for defense. First pioneers describe the walls as originally about 5 ft. high and the moat 2 ft. deep. Springfield University Club Historical Marker No. 16 Erected Oct. 1930".

KNOB ROCK RATTLER!

Shell Knob, Mo. JEANNIE'S Bittersweet BOUTIQUE Table Rock Lake

SHELL KNOB IS

The next time you pick up a road map and check the listed population of Shell Knob, Missouri, the figure will be 40 to 50 depending upon which publication you check. Don't be mislead by what the figures indicate to you. Shell Knob is an unincorporated area, and road map statistics do not reflect what is actually here.

When Shell Knob's Bridgeway Plaza was being developed, and somewhat later when the Community Bank of Shell Knob was being organized, studies showed over 5,000 residents within a 5 mile radius of Shell Knob. Today, only a few years after the original surveys, studies indicate approximately 8,000 residents in the same area. Scattered among the hills and valleys along the shores of Table Rock Lake are literally dozens of development communities containing from one or two to dozens of fine homes. Most have community water and street systems, adequate electrical service by local REC Cooperatives, convenient access to both lake recreation facilities, and a wide variety of shopping and service businesses.

Shell Knob has a fine grade school and bus service to the door. Area students attend high schools in nearby Cassville and Blue Eye.

4TH JULY AT SHELL KNOB

Shell Knob Independence Day Observation, now in it's 8th year is always a big event in Shell Knob. Plans for this year include several days of gala celebration including Music & Dancing on Bridgeway Plaza, The Crowning of the Annual Miss Shell Knob and Little Miss Shell Knob, A rodeo sponsored by the Saddle Club, BBQ, Watermelon on Bridgeway Plaza and other events in the planning!

The Annual Parade last year included 52 organizations and promises to be even bigger and better this year and at dusk on July 4 FIREWORKS!!! Boats arrive for the gigantic fireworks display on the lake near the Central Crossing Hwy 39 Bridge along with cars and spectators on Hwy 39. The fireworks shot over the lake echoing through the Ozark Mountains is a sight and sound almost indescribable with beauty and awe. The Celebration of Indepence Day in Shell Knob is not just a one day event, folks, better plan to come and spend the week to take in all of the fun filled activites!

Henry Schell - Founder of Shell Knob

As we look about these Ozarks, think of their beauty and consider how long they have been here. We wonder what tales these hills could tell if they could talk to us.

History relates to us that a Mr. Henry Schell came to the Barry and Stone County Area in 1834 from the Lutesville, Missouri area. Mr. Schell married Elizabeth Yocum and they reportedly had a family of six sons and six daughters. In 1845 Mr. Schell moved on, settling again in McDonald County. Many folks believe the name Shell Knob arises from the fact that one of our earliest settlers was Mr. Schell and he lived near a knob in our area.

A post office was established at this location in 1872; and many believe the postal department dropped the C from the name Schell and it simply has not been used since.

MOUNTAINS???

Some folks seem to laugh at the Ozarks being called mountains. No doubt they consider them to be mere hills compared to the great heights of the Rockies and other such ranges. One dyed-in-the-wool Ozarkian rebuffed this fun making by suggesting that the Ozarks were subjected to the forces of erosion for some three hundred million years before the Rockies were even formed. Reportedly, he further explained that the roots of the Ozarks were no doubt just as deep as those of the Rockies, and perhaps someone should measure mountains down instead of up!

SHELL KNOB
CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
BOX 193 SHELL KNOB, MISSOURI 65747

The Shell Knob Chamber of Commerce originated with efforts to advertise the vacation and retirement advantages offered by the Southwest Missouri Ozarks, Table Rock Lake, and particularly those advantages found in the Shell Knob area. The parent organization was the Central Crossing Association organized in the early 1960's for the purpose of advertising the resort and tourist business interests at sports, boat and vacation shows throughout the midwest.

In 1980 enough interest was shown in the promotion of Shell Knob by all aspects of the business and retirement community that the Chamber of Commerce came into being. The Chamber membership now includes 134 business members and 94 associate members who are largely from the growing retirement community and genuinely interested in the orderly development of Shell Knob.

Functions and activities of the Chamber of Commerce are administered by a 12 person board of directors who meet the fourth Tuesday of each month at the Community Buillding to transact the Chamber business and hear the comments and advice of the membership who are invited to attend each board session.

A Chamber of Commerce Office and Tourist Informatiion Center began operation early in 1982 directly across Hwy 39 from the Community Bank. The Information Center is staffed by volunteers available to all visitors for area information, accomodations, and general assistance. Through the efforts of community wide organizations, such as the Shell Knob Chamber of Commerce, Shell Knob is becoming known as the Quiet, Friendly Place in the Southwest Missouri Ozarks.

SPRING

Spring is beautiful in these hills. There is a story told of a man who died and went to Heaven. St. Peter was showing him around and everything was so beautiful until they came to a grove of trees and people were chained to the trees. The man asked St. Peter why they were chained and he said, "They are from the Ozarks, and it is spring down there now. We have to keep them chained or they will go back.

The Ozarks are full of exciting things to see for those who appreciate the natural beauty of the area's plant and animal life. There are reportedly 43 species of mammals commonly found in the Ozarks today. Pleasant news to some and unpleasant to others is the fact that 13 of the known species are of the bat family. The large mammals so common in years past, such as the elk, bear, buffalo, and panther, have all disappeared. The white tail deer and wild turkey, however, have made a spectacular return to the area through the efforts of both private and government interests to restock them.

Valid and confirmed reports of at least one wild bear seen at Shell Knob only two years ago also attest to the return of another nearly extinct, to the area, species. It is believed this most recent visitor from the wild originated from a restocking program carried on in northwest Arkansas.

UGLY DAWGS

The Best of The Worst Have Their Day in Shell Knob.

The scene could best be described as the canine rendition of the Clint Eastwood Western, "The Good, the Bad and the Ugly," except the unshaven hombres aren't packing hot lead..they are busy petting some of the "most despicable dogs" you ever faced.

Whether you call them dawgs, doggies or mutts, the furry little creatures are all part of the annual Ugly Dog Show held in August in conjunction with the Shell Knob Chamber of Commerce.

To get an idea of how ugly the first place winner must be picture this when last year's winner was placed on stage for the judges' certification the first question asked was, "Are you sure that's a dog?" Some say it could have passed for part rat!

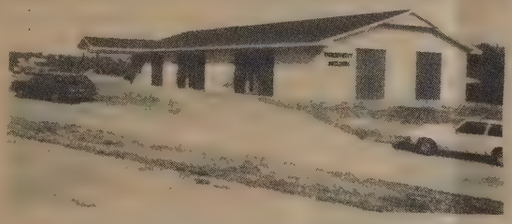
THE TROUBLE with being a leader today is that you can't be sure whether people are following you or chasing you.



One of the centers of activity in the Shell Knob area is the Shell Knob - Viola Community Building located just off of Hwy 39 south of the Central Crossing Bridge at Shell Knob. The building was erected by local folks seeking a place to hold community activities of various sorts in 1973 and financed by sale of stock shares to supporting individuals within the community.

The building is regularly used by local groups such as the Lions and Lioness Clubs, Civil Defense, Lake Side Ballroom Dance Club, the Table Rockers Square Dance Club, The Central Crossing Women's Club, Shell Knob Chamber of Commerce, and many other local organizations.

Thursday evenings all year long are reserved at the Community Building as Bingo night sponsored by such groups as the Lions Club and the Central Crossing CB Club. Benefits from these fun and game nights are used to support such worthwhile projects as the local library.

The building has complete kitchen facilities for large group dinners; and an addition to facilitate stage productions is in the planning stages at the present time.

Administration of the building is by a 15 person board of directors elected by the shareholders at their annual meeting each March.

The very existence and convenience of the Community Building attests to the spirit of working together in the southwest Missouri community of Shell Knob.

Where the Kings and White Rivers Meet

Remember when traffic jams were non-existent? When 747's didn't rattle your windows? Remember the days before pollution? When you didn't breathe exhaust fumes? When you could eat fresh fish with no fear of illness?

That was yesterday--and yesterday is today in Shell Knob, Missouri. Located on the shores of Unspoiled Table Rock Lake. Shell Knob has clean air, magnificent scenery and the serenity of a rural atmosphere. Besides these, we offer: wild dogwoods and redbuds in full bloom, hummingbirds feeding at nearby flowers, roadrunners stamping insects from their hiding places, maples standing like pillars of fire among the golds and bronzes of other native trees and so much more when you take the time to look around and see the beauty of our land. Yeaterday has returned!

Would you like to catch a lunker bass? How about water-skiing in 2 states? Would you enjoy bagging a 6-point buck? or scuba-diving in clear water all year 'round? Most sports are available in Shell Knob, so bring your golf clubs, hiking shoes, riding clothes - whatever you need to do your thing. We'll do our best to accommodate your dream of a perfect vacation.

Revisiting "yesterday" at the Ozarks' numerous attractions is easy from Shell Knob. We're located on Mo. Hwy. 39, midway between Eureka Springs and the Silver Dollar City/Shepherd of the Hills Country. You'll find it equally convenient to visit mountain craftsmen plying their trades, watch open air theatrical presentations and listen to mountain music makers.

So come see us here in "yesterday". Stay a week, a month, or a lifetime. We know you'll be enchanted by the friendliness and hospitality that have made the Ozarks famous.

We're looking forward to welcoming you to Shell Knob in one of our yesteryears in the near future

A very worthwhile community effort in 1980 resulted in the formation of the Shell Knob Community Library. Opened in Oct. 1981 with books donated by interested members of the community and stored on shelves built by local volunteer labor, the library has grown to a repository of nearly 5000 volumes of every conceivable style and subject.

This past year the Shell Knob Community Library became a part of the Barry County Library system and now utilizes the services of a paid librarian and the broad resources of the county wide library services.

AREA CRAFT SHOWS

Talent abounds in the Ozark area. Some of the results of this talent can be enjoyed and purchased at several craft shows during the year.

The Shell Knob - Viola Community Building will host a craft show and sale in late June. This show has become so popular it has outgrown the building and overflows to booths on the grounds.

October 22 and 23, 1983 is the date set for the 3rd annual Shell Knob Creative Hands Guild Show and Sale at the Shell Knob School. This is also a fast growing popular show.

Both near-by communities of Golden and Eagle Rock have shows each October. Again at these fine shows the creative talent of area folks can be seen and purchased.

Just a short drive from Shell Knob to the south is the annual show at the Warr Eagle Mill in Arkansas. It will be held October 21, 22, and 23, 1983. A lot of folks stay in the Shell Knob area and visit this well-known show. This has become one of the oldest and largest shows in the United States.

Be sure and make reservations in advance for lodging if you plan to attend this Warr Eagle Show or any other activity in the area that particular weekend. Last year this show attracted 100,000 people.

VIEW FROM THE ROCK

There is a lot of Ozarks out there, roughly 55,000 square miles. All of it disected into precipitous ridges and hollows cut through by beautiful rivers, carving, even today, into the bedrock. It is difficult to realize that our Ozarks were formed on an ocean floor slowly heaved up some 1.5 billion years ago. Erosion has done the rest.

Our mountains are not high. The highest in Missouri is Taum Sauk at 1772 ft. Arkansas' highest peak in only 2578 ft. in the Boston Mountains. But nature has worked her wonders here: hills, trees, rivers, caves, and springs, creating a land easy to love.

Ozarks, to many people, still means feuding hillbillies, clandestine stills, barefoot children, cornbread, white beans, hog jowls, and crops planted in the proper signs of the moon. Everyone here, of course, lives in a tumble down log cabin with a leaning outhouse. A leering crescent moon also embellishes each rickety door.

Behind this facade is a very special place. A wilderness exists, still intact, in spite of three centuries of man's attempts to tame it for his use. Surrounded by town, industry, and interspersed by farm, much of its original charm survives for our enjoyment, even though badly abused by man's tools, machines, methods, greed, and carelessness.

Our Ozarks are old -- old rocks, old boulders, old bluffs. They look old. There are old survivors around us too: plants, trees, animals, and men. All of these and more are our inherited legacy. Our responsibility is to maintain, preserve, and enjoy them to the fullest.

Most of us are at a loss to describe our Ozarks to those who have never seen them -- springs, rivers, caves, hills, and bluffs. Even the manmade lakes defy proper comparison and description.

Truly, we are a unique people in a unique place in an also unique and special time. If we work together with pride, we can keep it this way.

The Central Crossing Fire Protection District was organized in 1969 in an effort to lend neighborly help to each other within the community in times of emergency due to fire. Prior to this organization the nearest fire protection equipment was operated by the National Forest Service.

Today, the department serves the community through use of 3 separate engine houses, 2 pumper trucks, 2 large capacity tankers, and 2 utility and brush trucks all manned by 18 active willing volunteers who give freely of their time and efforts in both fire fighting when necessary and in proper maintenance of the equipment.

In 1980, through the efforts of this organization in updating equipment and broadening their capabilities, the Insurance Services Office of Missouri was able to reduce the fire rate classification for members of the district within 5 miles of an engine house, from a rural class 10 to a town class 9 resulting in substantial reductions in fire insurance premiums for members in the area.

OZARKS

The term "Ozarks" is applied many times to particular areas such as Shell Knob, Branson, Table Rock Lake, Lake of the Ozarks, etc. So the question arises, "Where are the Ozarks?" Geologically speaking, the Ozarks comprise an area of roughly 55,000 square miles. They are bordered on the north by the Missouri River [although some say Hannibal, Mo. is in the Ozarks], on the east by the Mississippi River [though a small part of southern Illinois is considered to be part of the Ozarks], bordered on the south by the Arkansas River, and on the west by the beginnings of the Great Plains in Oklahoma and Kansas. The Quachita Mountains of Arkansas south of the Arkansas River are said to be older than the Ozark Plateau by some and therefore not truly a part of the Ozarks even though similar in terrain and appearance. Probably the very roughest terrain in the Ozarks would be found in the Boston mountains of northwest Arkansas which also boasts the highest elevations of around 2500 ft. The Taum Sauk mountain of the Missouri Ozarks reaches some 1700 ft. in height.

Geologists tell us the Ozark plateau is among the oldest of mountains on the North American Continent and was formed by several upheavals of the earth's crust and alternate flooding by warm ancient seas. Erosion and time coupled with other wonders of nature have provided us with this truly unique and beautiful area for our enjoyment.

Visitors into the Ozarks enjoy a much milder climate than is found either to the colder north or the warmer south. Average rainfall in the southwest Missouri Ozarks is approximately 40 inches a year and the mean annual temperature is an approximate 60 degrees. Winter weary northern visitors find the occasional 70 ° late February and early March days a welcome, refreshing experience; while the southern visitor enjoys relief from the high humidity and closeness of areas more under the influence of the ocean moisture.

The Ozarks enjoy the fullest of the four seasons. Spring and fall seasons are both long and slow to change while winter's cold and summer's heat are both shorter lived than most areas due to the almost ideal geographic location.

The southwest Missouri Ozarks enjoy a unique sort of wildness about them. It has been written that there are few, if any, places in the area more than 10 miles from a road or trail of some sort and most of the area has been inhabited for over 10,000 years by one people or another. With the arrival of the white man the game and fur bearing animals were exploited. The huge timber resources were destroyed; and those seeking mineral resources were destroyers of the landscape. But in spite of all of modern man's plunder, the damage is not permanent. The Ozarks have a wondrous ability to renew themselves and in the most recent 40 or 50 years the Ozarks have regained much of their original beauty. Thank goodness the Ozarks area has been particularly resistant to the commercial uses man has brought to the area, for now man seems to have come to realize that appreciation of the natural beauty of the area by the tourist and retirement segments of our population is undoubtedly the finest use the area has ever been subjected to.

Vacation in the Ozarks this year -- you may just decide to stay!

WELCOME To Shell Knob
The first known settler in this area was Henry Schell. He came here in the late 1820's or early 1830's and made his homestead on the White River a mile or so east of the Pizza Hut Restaurant.
The town received its official name sometime after the Civil War when a post office was established. Since 1958 when Table Rock Lake was filled the area has become a vacationers paradise and a thriving community. Its many recreational facilites, lakes and playgrounds provide a unique environment for people to visit and live.
The Pizza Hut was built on land dedicated to the memory of Mr. Gil Hinkle, pioneer sportsman of these beautiful Ozarks by his family and friends.
We hope you have a nice visit in the area and will return often.

The Ozark summer means many things to many people. It kinda begins with things like fresh strawberry pie. Spring disappears very rapidly as we move into the summer harvest season. It has been said that we go from heavy underwear weather directly into no underwear weather, and that the first day of summer is the day mothers first let the kids go barefoot outside. Not too many years ago summer meant hard work to all who lived in our Ozarks: preparation for a long winter; hay carefully stacked into the barn by man, mule, and pitchfork; very large gardens to care for; seemingly endless rows of vegetables to keep the weeds out of [with aching back and a short handled hoe]. How many can really remember hand picking the bugs and worms from the tomato, potato, and melon vines, dropping them into a tin bucket with a little coal oil in the bottom of it? The hottest days of July and August always seemed to be the days to cut new seedlings and sprouts out of the pasture. Whole families were busy with picking, canning, storing away during the entire summer season. The joys of summer came in things like fried chicken, roasting ears, tomatoes from your own garden, occasional picnics with friends and neighbors plus the knowledge that hard summer work meant secure winter. It's not all that different today -- we add baseball, golf, water skiing, roller skating, and many more -- but generally with much less back breaking work. We do, however, still have the sand in the hair, sunburn on the back, along with the usual summer colds, hay-fever, poison ivy, and the occasional wood tick.

Dear Recipient:

Thank you for contacting the National Personnel Records Center. The military record needed to answer your inquiry was located in the area that suffered the most damage in the fire that occurred at this Center on July 12, 1973. Fortunately, the record/a portion of the record was among those recovered; however, it was damaged in the fire.

We are pleased to authorize shipment of the following awards based on the documents you provided and/or official documents available.

PURPLE HEART;
GOOD CONDUCT MEDAL;
AMERICAN DEFENSE SERVICE MEDAL;
AMERICAN CAMPAIGN MEDAL;
EUROPEAN-AFRICAN-MIDDLE EASTERN CAMPAIGN MEDAL with 1 silver service star;
WORLD WAR II VICTORY MEDAL;
HONORABLE SERVICE LAPEL BUTTON WWII;

Your Awards Case Number is A5A5A57268ZGW.

You may check the status and estimated shipping date of your request at any time by visiting http://veteranmedals.army.mil. You will need your Awards Case Number (which starts with the letter "A") shown above to access status information. You may also use this site to report a change of address if you move prior to receiving your awards. Again, you will need your Awards Case Number for an address change.

These awards will be shipped directly to you from:

Please write directly to that office if you have questions or problems regarding shipping, address changes, engraving errors, or damaged medals or awards. If you have questions concerning the listing of medals authorized above, please contact NPRC.

Please note that any person who knowingly requests and/or receives military medals for which there is no entitlement from a government source may be committing fraud. Such incidents may be reported to federal authorities for investigation and possible legal action.

The veteran's official records show authorization for the EUROPEAN-AFRICAN-MIDDLE EASTERN CAMPAIGN MEDAL with 5 bronze service stars. These are appurtenances to be worn on the campaign medal, which signify participation in battles or campaigns. They are not individual decorations or medals.

A silver service star or silver oak leaf cluster is awarded in lieu of five bronze service stars or five bronze oak leaf clusters.

Sunday 25th.

Dear Melanie & Family:

I did'nt realize until I received your last letter that the storm down there had passed thru your area. I know those tropical storms must be about as bad or equal to a tornado. We can all be thankful that it was'nt any worse.

I guess school is in full swing now, and its wonderful that they can be there with you. I hope Troyce gets to go to Houston Baptist University. I know they have both done well in school,(thanks to a wonderful mother and father) and will continue with their education, which we all know now is a "must".

Eldon & Betty are having a hard time trying to keep the business going now that Ron is not able to carry on as they planned. They had planned to slow down and try to retire but now that does'nt seem possible. Ron has been in and out of the hospital for over a year with back problems, including an operation.

Well, it seems that Fall started a little early this year. Our cool days and nights for the past week, and even a little frost will no doubt bring us nice Fall colors to enjoy. The lake level is below normal, but the water temperature is still in the upper 70s. Fall fishing should be good. I hav'nt been on the lake too much this summer due to traffic and heat., also have been fairly busy with real estate prospects, and sales have been pretty good. Hope the storm did'nt have any influence on the sale of your property there. If I should see a customer that wants to come to that area I'll certainly send them to see you.

Birdie is up and around again but pretty weak after being down for over a month. Their relatives from Palm Springs California have purchased a home in the area we live in. They spend the Summer here and the Winter out there. Kay's cousin, and Birdie's neice.

Time seems to be flying by. I can hardly realize that I too have another birthday comin'up soon. I certainly thank the Lord for good health, and pray for him to give you comfort and guidance and all the good things you deserve. Good-bye for now.

Love,

Dex.

Dear Melanie & family:

First I must apologize for being so long in answering your letters, also for using the Company letter heads for my personal correspondence.

This has been a terrible Summer for us. Lots of hot weather, sickness in the family, deaths of many personal friends. I have also been working hard at my age so that I can still hope to stay active and well, and try not to worry about all the problems that arise over which we have no control.

Yours and Angelas meeting with my brother Eldon and wife Betty was in no way responsible for my negliance in writing to you all. They were sorry that they could'nt visit with you more, and were very impressed with your personality and education. So I'm gonna have to "spank" you if you get any more of those wrong ideas in your head.

Speaking of real estate sales, we're not up to par, and hav'nt been since 1979. We're still selling retirement properties, but not much commercial or land sales. We have certainly felt the effects of the recession along with everyone else. I'm a little worried about the increase in interest rates, and all the problems we're evidently going to have in Central American and the other foreign countries where there is so much trouble and discontent.

Glad to hear Rodney's mother is making it ok since surgery. I hope the rest of you stay well and in good health. Yes, its almost school time again. Keep Angela and Troyce in school, education is so important now, much more than in my school days.

Must close for now, so I can get this mailed today. Still hope the future will bring us together for at least a visit. My mother in law has not been well, and as she gets older we try to help her enjoy what time she has left. More later--

Love and best wishes to all of you,

Steve.
